TWO BOOKS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE ON TOPICS OF NATIONAL INTEREST

THE AFTERMATH OF SLAVERY

By WILLIAM A. SINCLAIR, A.M., M.D.

With an Introduction by THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON

12mo, cloth, gilt top, 400 pp. Net, $1.50; by post $1.62

The first book by one of the black race which gives a comprehensive account of the conditions of the American negro since his emancipation. Written by one of the best educated and most widely traveled colored men of the time, this volume contains just the information that the American voters and readers need to enable them to understand the present-day burning questions concerning the negro.

COLONEL HIGGINSON says of it in his introduction: "It is in almost all respects admirable, and shows much more thoroughness in dealing with both sides than any book recently produced."

PARIS AND THE SOCIAL REVOLUTION

By ALVAN FRANCIS SANBORN

With over sixty Illustrations drawn by VAUGHAN TROWBRIDGE

8vo, cloth decorative, gilt top, 480 pp. Net, $3.50; by post, $3.75

An exhaustive and intensely interesting study of the revolutionary element as exemplified in all the strata of Parisian society, from the anarchist laborer to the leading writers and artists of France, many of whom, while in no way classified as socialist or anarchist, are just as truly revolutionary in spirit.

Mr. Sanborn tells who and what the revolutionist is, what he wants and how he expects to get it, and how he gets himself heard. He shows what part in the revolutionary movement is being taken by the laborer, the criminal, the student, and by the literature and the art of to-day. While the work is thoroughly scientific in its spirit, the treatment is such as to make the book of great popular interest and its appeal has no national limitations. In portraying conditions in Paris it discloses the principles of human nature that underlie feelings of unrest which are world-wide in their manifestation, and its interpretation of these principles will prove full of suggestion to the thinking American reader who wishes to understand the trend of radical thought in his own country.

The superb illustrations add greatly to the value of the book. Mr. Trowbridge shows rare appreciation of his subject. His drawings are truthful and they possess all the charm of the French school and of Parisian life.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 28, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE BOOKS OF 1904.

THAT the year just closed was somewhat affected in its spring and summer months, by the mysteriously depressing influence that inevitably precedes a Presidential election, was the general consensus of opinion. From January to March of 1904 the business of the year, in the book trade, was up to date, if not even better than normal. Following came months of marked inactivity, and not only were fewer books published than usual, but those that were issued were not of a class to awaken very deep interest or very enthusiastic comment. With the fall months, however, a change was quickly discernible; the trade awakened from its apparent lethargy, and the strenuous life was in order in a way quite as mysterious as the previous depression. The publishing houses poured out books in bewildering fashion. The last months, the last weeks, the last days even of 1904 saw crowded into its seemingly depleted ranks enough works to raise the average of the year far above the preceding year. If our statistical tables, which follow this review under the caption of "American Book Production of 1904," are consulted, it will be seen that THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY recorded 8291 books, an increase over the books of 1903 of 426 books—1178 of the total being new books in excess of the former. It is an old story that the purely imaginative literature takes the lead. If juvenile fiction is counted in with the novels, the two classes represent more than a fourth of the publications of the year. In Fiction, as in other classes, our own writers were even more in evidence than in 1903. Many English novels were copyrighted and found readers, but were not for the moment on the high wave of popularity, as was also observed with Continental writers, few of whose works received translation. The pessimistic note dominant in the fiction of the year calls for notice. In getting away from the wholesome historical novel, we seem swinging back to the old days of the psychological study, presented with even more coarseness than in the past, though certainly with more intellectual power, adding materially to its harmfulness. The year's history is easily discernible in its books. The Russo-Japanese war was a prolific source of subjects in biography, history, description and fiction. The coming election of a President suggested lives of prospective candidates and flattering estimates by their friends. The trusts, the tariff, the strikes and other economic conditions were treated by leading writers. Our divines echoed the temperate attitude of the day, favoring us with many mildly-worded sermons and exhortations, that should have received a far greater number of readers. Poetry remains a lost art, though its disciples have rather increased than diminished in numbers. One of the unanswerable questions of the year was why Italy should just at this present moment have been a source of inspiration to so many writers. Her praise was not only sung in novels, but in many beautiful descriptive works. The Beaconsfield centennial brought forth appreciative biographies of England's great Prime Minister. Take the year as a whole, it was neither better nor worse than the two preceding ones. There were many books that no doubt will prove of permanent value, and, as usual, a great deal of what the critical call "trash." That it was a good business year is generally admitted.

The noted dead did not make a long list. In England the loss of Sir Edwin Arnold, the poet and Oriental scholar, and of Henry Morton Stanley, the African explorer, called out expressions of regret on both continents. The death of Clement William Scott removed a famous dramatic critic, known to all lovers of the stage. Besides these were Mrs. Isabella L. Bishop, the great traveller; Adeline Sergeant, novelist; Frances Power Cobbe, reformer and woman's rights advocate; and the author of "Self-Help," Dr. Samuel Smiles. The Hungarian novelist, Maurus Jokai, also passed away.

Among our own writers were Lafcadio Hearn (an adopted American), Laurence Hutton, Edgar Fawcett, Guy Wetmore Carryl, Professor Von Holst, the historian; "Grace Greenwood" (Mrs. Sarah Jane Lipincott), a writer of a past century, and Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer, also better known to an older generation.

The review that follows aims to point out the leading books of the year—not only the literary successes, but also the popular ones, represented frequently by the "great sellers."

FICTION.

To the senior American novelists, Henry James and William Dean Howells, we give the place of honor. "The Golden Bowl" has for its subject an international marriage, the union of an Italian Prince and a wealthy American girl, and is in Mr. James's most polished style. "The Son of Royal Langbrith" reveals more intensity and color than we have learned to look for from Mr. Howells in recent years, and will doubtless stand among his best efforts. A strongly realistic story of American life, with the scene in Chicago, is offered in "The Common Lot," from Robert Herrick. It is a painful picture of a young architect's fall before the corrupt influences of money. "The Deliverance," with its background of Virginia tobacco fields, its tense story of love and revenge, was the first novel of the year, and one of Ellen Glasgow's best. "The Crossing" is a volume in the "Richard Carvel" series of Winston Churchill, and relates to the peaceful conquest of the great Louisiana territory. The novel is rich in dramatic incidents—but the author's canvas is too crowded. In the front rank among the numerous disagreeable novels is Mrs. Voynich's "Olive Latham." The same intellectual strength marks it that characterized "The Gadfly," but its story is a repellant one, presenting some terrible pictures of the "inside" life of Russia. Stewart E. White carries the reader into the snow-covered forests of the Canada woodland in "The Silent Places," telling with original power and graphic portraiture a story of cold and starvation—and love. "Sir Mortimer," another of the opening novels of 1904, held its own firmly through the year. Love and daring adventure are interwoven in the plot, Mary Johnston telling a rarely good story of Elizabeth's time.

Various forms of religion are discussed in "The Seeker," by Harry Leon Wilson, the author of "The Spenders." The last novel of the young writer who died in Paris—Guy Wetmore Carryl—is comprised under the title of "The Transgression of Andrew Vane." That the author had studied his Paris thoroughly is most evident. Mrs. Gertrude Atherton won new honors in "Rulers of Kings," and Mrs. Maud Wilder Goodwin, in "Four Roads to Paradise," an unusually witty, clever novel.

One of the great "sellers" was "The Castaway," with Lord Byron as its hero, by Hallie Erminie Rives; and another "Nancy Stair," by Elinor Macartney Lane, who presents one of the most charming characters in recent fiction. "In the Bishop's Carriage," by Miriam Michelson, found hosts of readers, both from the novelty of its plot and the cleverness of the author. The question of divorce is set forth against three different social backgrounds in Robert Grant's thoughtful novel, "The Undercurrent."

Charmingly bright, witty novels are named under the following titles: "The Affair at the Inn," by Kate Douglas Wiggin and others; "The Apology of Ayliffe," by Ellen Olney Kirk, and "Cynthia's Rebellion," by A. E. Thomas. To the ranks of the cheerful books may also be welcomed "Susan Clegg and Her Friend Mrs. Lathrop," by Anne Warner, who has created characters as distinctive and amusing as "Mrs. Wiggs." "Cap'n Eri," by Joseph C. Lincoln, also keeps us in the sunshine, provoking no end of happy laughs, as does "The Daughters of Desperation," by Hildegard Brooks. Louis Tracy is the author of a delightful detective story, which though thrilling is not harrowing. It is called "The Albert Gate Mystery," dealing with diamonds of inestimable value, stolen in London from representatives of the Sultan of Turkey. "The Marathon Mystery," by Burton Egbert Stevenson, is a sequel to "The Holladay Case," depicting a tragedy in a New York apartment house.

More letters from a self-made merchant to his son, under the title "Old Gorgon Graham," was a pleasant event of the publishing year. In this volume George Horace Lorimer views a young man's problems from a new standpoint and is as wise and helpful as of yore. "The Woman Errant" deals with some of the problems of the softer sex—pertaining to the domestic life and the social life and comes from Barbara, the heroine of "The Garden of a Commuter's Wife" and "The People of the Whirlpool." An old Beacon Hill mansion of Boston is the scene of a social tragedy told by Mrs. Anna Farquhar, ("Margaret Allston,") under the name of "An Evans of Suffolk." Chapters from early American history are found in Mary Dillon's "The Rose of Old St. Louis" and in Katharine Holland Brown's "Diane," a romance of the Icarian settlements on the Mississippi River. C. G.

D. Roberts's "The Prisoner of Mademoiselle" is a charming love story, while Jack London's "The Sea Wolf" mixes love and adventure in a delightful narrative of the sea.

The chief novel of the many of modern Italy is Francis Marion Crawford's "Whosoever Shall Offend." Rome and Sicily furnish the romantic background of a tragedy prompted by the basest motives. Norma Lorimer's "On Etna," equally delightful in its scene painting of Sicily, is a romantic love story that has a dramatic ending. "A New Paolo and Francesca" changes its scenes from Florence to an island of Hebrides, the author, Annie E. Holdsworth, offering a modern version of the old Italian love story. "My Friend Prospero" is the latest novel from the pen of Henry Harland, ("Sidney Luska,") transporting the seeker after romance and adventure to the mountains of northern Italy, and telling a charming tale with an exceedingly clever dialogue. Rome again gives background to an American novel with American characters in Gamaliel Bradford's "The Private Tutor." An attempted vindication of Lucrezia Borgia is the purpose of "The Closed Book," by William Le Queux. "A Night with Alessandro" is an episode in Florence by Treadwell F. Cleveland. "Beatrice of Venice" is by Max Pemberton, the English novelist, but we mention it here to gather together the works prompted by the Italian motive.

We make one paragraph also of the more important novels relating to Japan and Russia. "Nami-Ko" is unique in being taken directly from the Japanese of Kenjiro Tokutomi, and being the first Japanese novel translated into English from modern Japanese literature. The singular marriage and divorce customs of Japan are discussed, the author setting forth graphically the rapidly changing social and religious opinions of the Japanese. The sister of F. Marion Crawford—Mrs. Hugh Fraser—who has lived for many years in Japan, is responsible for "The Stolen Emperor," with its exquisite setting of court life in old Japan; Onoto Watanna for "The Love of Azalea" and "Daughters of Nijo," both romantic stories of "the land of the rising sun." Clive Holland is the author of "A Japanese Romance," and Archibald Clavering Gunter of "My Japanese Prince." Russia is the scene of two carefully prepared novels—"Ivan the Terrible," from the French of K. Waliszewski, and "The Tiger of Muscovy," by Fred Whishaw, an Englishman.

The American short story seemed confined to the magazines in 1904, few examples of note having been sent forth in book form.

The exceptions were "The Descent of Man, and Other Stories," by Edith Wharton, exquisite examples of her refined, incisive style; John Fox, Jr.'s "Christmas Eve on Lonesome, and Other Stories," realistic southwestern episodes; Stewart E. White's "Blazed Trail Stories," characteristic tales of the lumbering regions of the great Northwest; "More Cheerful Americans," by Charles Battell Loomis, nineteen humorous stories that have appeared in various magazines; and Lafcadio Hearn's "Kwaidan," marvellous tales of Japan.

The one book from the English that every one was reading in 1904 was "The Masquerader." Mrs. Katherine C. Thurston made a great success through an original and most fascinating plot. Her book was issued in England as "John Chilcote, M.P." "Baccarat," the product of a woman's pen likewise, stirred the critical world deeply. Its power as a psychological study admitted, it has been pronounced needlessly coarse as a novel. The author of "Pigs in Clover," Mrs. Julia Frankau, whose pen name is "Frank Danby," is the author. Hall Caine's latest novel, "The Prodigal Son," plays in Iceland, and aims to show that the Biblical parable is scarcely just in a worldly application. "The Truants," by the author of that strong novel of last year, "The Four Feathers"—A. E. W. Mason—scarcely shows him to the same advantage as the former work. "The Divine Fire," by May Sinclair, was exceedingly well received for apparently a first novel. The rise of a second-hand bookseller to fame as a poet, and his development into a man of culture and refinement, offers the author a wide field for character sketching and scenes from London literary life. Marmaduke Pickthall made his mark with "Said the Fisherman," a novel presenting low life in Damascus and Alexandria in 1871. Rural life in Devonshire, England, serves as a frame to Mrs. Blundell's, ("M. E. Francis,") rather sad romance of "Lychgate Hall;" S. R. Crockett's name appears on the title-page of "The Loves of Miss Anne;" W. W. Jacobs's on that of "Dialstone Lane," deliciously humorous and fresh, as is Jerome K. Jerome's "Tommy & Co." A new novel by the author of "Concerning Isabel Carnaby" excited pleasurable anticipations which were fully realized in "Kate of Kate Hall," rich in wit and epigrammatic talk; Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, now Mrs. Felkin, seems to have been assisted by her husband in her latest work, as his name is on the title-page. "The Challoners," by E. F. Benson, was one of the much-read English novels; Norris's "Nature's Comedian" may be placed in the same category; E. W. Hornung's "Dennis Dent" is a story of Australia in the early fifties, also of the Crimean War and the Indian mutiny. Anthony Hope Hawkins's "Double Harness," John Oliver Hobbes's "The Vineyard," Stanley J. Weyman's "The Abbess of Vlaye," Morley Roberts's "Rachel Marr," Eden Phillpotts's "Farm of the Dagger," Charles Marriott's "Genevra," and Sir Gilbert Parker's "A Ladder of Swords," all belong to the history of the year and stand for some of the best work of the leading English novelists.

Kipling's "Traffics and Discoveries" collected all that he has written since "The Day's Work" in the way of short stories. Some "Later Adventures of Wee Macgregor" further endeared the little Scotch laddie J. J. Bell has made known to us. A volume of short stories, left unpublished at Hugh S. Scott's death, was issued with the title "Tomaso's Fortune" under his pseudonym of "Henry Seton Merriman."

Paul Bourget's "Divorce" from the French belongs to the notable books of the year. It is a powerful argument in favor of the indissolubility of the marriage tie. The German writer, Max Nordau, had in "Morganatic" an equally strong subject carefully studied—morganatic marriages as seen only in European courts and their effects upon the children of such unions. Lieutenant Bilse's "A Little Garrison" found two publishers, and Graf von Baudisson's "First-Class Men," also a prohibited book in Germany, was issued both in an English translation and in the original German. There was one novel from the Dutch of Eduard Downes Dekker, called "Walter Pieterse," a story of Holland; from the Polish "Life and Death, and Other Legends and Stories," by Henryk Sienkiewicz; from the Russian two volumes of tales and sketches by Count Tolstoi, called "Sevastopol" and "Esarhaddon;" from the Swedish "Singoalla," a romance by Viktor Rydberg, and from the Norwegian "Professor Lovdahl," by Alexander Kielland.

BIOGRAPHY.

This department, which includes biographies, autobiographies, memoirs and correspondence, remains rich in additions and interest. In American autobiography that of Moncure D. Conway's stands out among many others of importance. His life was a long and varied one, covering many of the most exciting periods of our history. Always an anti-slavery man, he came in contact with the anti-slavery leaders here and abroad, besides knowing the most eminent men in all walks of life of his generation. One may judge from these few facts what a treasure house of anecdote, personal detail and vivid description his "Autobiography" represents. One of the most important chapters in our Civil War is embraced in "The Life of John A. Andrew, Governor of Massachusetts 1861-1865," (2 v.,) written by Henry Greenleaf Pearson. The subject of the memoir was known as the "great war governor of Massachusetts." His loyalty and patriotism make a stirring story as related by Mr. Pearson. The life of the Hon. Clark E. Carr, another figure of our Civil War, is issued under the title "The Illini." Its chief aim is to relate Illinois's work for the Union, and incidentally the facts of Mr. Carr's life which made him acquainted with the noted men of his time. A hero of the navy of whom we are justly proud speaks from Admiral Schley's "Forty-five Years Under the Flag," and a Southern soldier, whom we remember "more in sorrow than in anger," furnished the material for "Recollections and Letters of General Robert E. Lee."

We are indebted to our women for several fascinating works of reminiscences. Mrs. Bancroft, the wife of the Hon. George Bancroft, the historian and minister to England in 1846, wrote home many letters while in London with her husband, describing her delightful social life. These may be asked for under the title "Letters from England, 1846-1849." In line with Mrs. Bancroft's work are Mrs. Roger A. Pryor's "Reminiscences of Peace and War," covering a later period in Washington, and Mrs. Clement Claiborne Clay's "A Belle of the Fifties" of about the same time.

Notable additions to well-known literary series are Rollo Ogden's "William Hickling Prescott" and Henry Dwight Sedgwick's "Francis Parkman," in American Men of Letters; "James Lawrence, Captain United States Navy," by Albert Gleaves, in American Men of Energy; "Charles Dudley Warner," by Mrs. James T. Fields, in Contemporary Men of Letters Series; and "James Oglethorpe, the Founder of Georgia," by Harriet C. Cooper and "The Man Roosevelt," by Francis Ellington, in Appleton's Historic Lives Series. President Roosevelt also found enthusiastic treatment at the hands of his friend, Jacob A. Riis, in "Theodore Roosevelt the Citizen."

Picturesque celebrities of the past had their chronicles revised in the light of present research, making volumes both eloquent and scholarly. First of this class to be named is "The True Henry Clay" by Joseph M. Rogers, a new pen picture of the great Kentuckian; "The Life of Thomas H. Benton," by W. M. Meigs; "William Penn as the Founder of Two Commonwealths," by A. C. Buell; also by the same author, "History of Andrew Jackson; and "Moses Brown, Captain U. S. N.," by Edgar Stanton Maclay. "Memoirs of Henry Villard" recalls a famous journalist and financier, one of our naturalized citizens who had a most romantic career. "Samuel Chapman Armstrong," the founder of Hampton Institute and a noted soldier, had his rich and useful life depicted by his daughter, Mrs. Edith Armstrong Talbot. "Working with the Hands" falls in naturally here, being Booker T. Washington's sequel to "Up from Slavery," and being the author's further experiences at Tuskegee. "A Preacher's Story of His Work" is the interesting life of the Rev. William Stephen Rainsford, the well-known rector of St. George's Church in New York City. One of the first Unitarian ministers had his views and work expounded in "William Greenleaf Eliot," by Charlotte C. Eliot. "John Peter Zenger," the second New York printer, was the subject of a work by Livingston Rutherford. Elizabeth Luther Cary endeavored to present "Emerson, Poet and Thinker," as he appears to the generation following his own. "Tolstoi the Man" was the result of Dr. E. F. Steiner's personal acquaintance with the great Russian.

Among the centenaries of 1904 was that of Benjamin Disraeli. This elicited in England several biographies of the great statesman. Walter Sichel's "Disraeli," a study in personality and ideas, seems one of the most attractive. "Letters of John Ruskin to Charles Eliot Norton," (2 v.,) has as much an American interest as English. The letters are of the most intimate nature, discussing art and religion and life and many other things. Edward Marston's "After Work" recommends itself to all lovers of books. It is the autobiography of a publisher and bookseller known in London for over fifty years. "The Life of Frederic William Farrar," written by his son, is the authorized life of the dean. Herbert Spencer's "An Autobiography" is one of the books "of all time," revealing the inner life of a great man with frankness and unusual detail. "Matthew Arnold and His Relation to the Thought of Our Time" is from W. H. Dawson. "Thackeray's Letters to an American Family" is a charming bit of personal biography that no worshipper of Thackeray should miss. The letters were written over fifty years ago to a Miss Lucy D. Baxter, of New York City, and to other members of the Baxter family. They show the lovable, whimsical side of his character in a delightful manner. "Thackeray in the United States," by James Grant Wilson, refers to the same period, and is a combination of humorous letters and Thackerayana.

To the Heroes of the Nations Series we have to record the addition of W. F. Reddaway's "Frederick the Great and the Rise of Prussia" and of "Wellington, Soldier and Statesman and the Revival of the Military Power of England," by W. O'Connor Morris; to Literary Lives, edited by W. Robertson Nicoll, "John Bunyan," by W. Hale White, ("Mark Rutherford;") "Newman," by William Barry, and "Matthew Arnold," by G. W. E. Russell. Among the new volumes issued in the uniform English Men of Letters is a biography of "Thomas Hobbes," and in the Contemporary Men of Letters Series an interesting account of "William Butler Yeats and the Irish Literary Revival," by Horatio Sheafe Krams.

"Recollections of Dante Gabriel Rossetti and His Circle," by Henry T. Dunn, and Arthur C. Benson's "Rossetti," in English Men of Letters Series, are evidences of the revival of interest in one of England's famous men. Mr. Benson's volume contains many fresh details of Rossetti's personal life. "New Letters of Thomas Carlyle," in two volumes, with annotations by Alexander Carlyle, is a sequel to the "Letters of Thomas Carlyle" published some years ago. "Emile Zola, Novelist and Reformer," had an appreciative account of his life and work written by Ernest Alfred Vizetelly; the Princess Catherine Radziwill's "My Recollections" pictures courts and their rulers as she found them; "A Queen of Tears," (2 v.,) is the dramatic tale of Caroline Matilda, Queen of Denmark and Norway and Princess of Great Britain and Ireland, retold in the light of recent historic research, by W. H. Wilkins. The French poet and critic, Sainte-Beuve's centenary also occurred during the past year, which encouraged the publication of a new translation of his biographical essays, "Portraits of the Seventeenth Century," by Katharine P. Wormeley. "My Literary Life" continues the autobiography of Madame Edmond Adam, ("Juliette Lamber,") begun in "The Romance of Childhood and Youth," and records in vivid terms her impression of the celebrities of the day her salon in Paris gathered around her.

LITERARY HISTORY AND MISCELLANY.

The great number of new editions of standard works gives this class a high place in our tables, but the original works embraced in it are by no means extensive. Many pleasant essays were received from American literary men and women. James Brander Matthews's "Recreations of an Anthologist" represents quaint and happy thoughts gathered in the by-ways of literature. Laurence Hutton's "Literary Landmarks of the Scottish Universities" treat reminiscently of Edinburgh, Glasgow, Aberdeen and St. Andrews. Sketches and stories of the islands of the South Pacific, under the name of "The Island of Tranquil Delights," are charming examples of Charles Warren Stoddard's picturesque style. Agnes Repplier, the queen of essayists, delighted readers with "Compromises." Essays about children and kindred "luxuries" are gathered within the covers of "The Luxury of Children and Some Other Luxuries," by Edward Sandford Martin, who considers children the best possible investment. Bliss Perry discoursed on "The Amateur Spirit," and Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis gave us "Bits of Gossip" about the great people of her day, while Frank Moore Colby was enlightening on the subject of "Imaginary Obligations." An excellent work of purely literary criticism is "The Younger American Poets," by Jessie B. Rittenhouse. Rev. C. J. Hawkins's "The Mind of Whittier" considers the poet chiefly as a reformer. Saintsbury's "History of Criticism and Literary Taste in Europe from the earliest texts to the present Day" was completed with the third volume. This, of course, came from across the water. Oscar Kuhns's "Dante and the English Poets from Chaucer to Tennyson" is an important literary work, thoughtfully considered.

The sixteen essays which make up "The Double Garden," of which Maurice Maeterlinck is the writer, appeared first in English and American periodicals. "By the Fireside," from the French by Mary Louise Hendee, introduces us anew to Charles Wagner, the author of "The Simple Life." A very important work of reference was brought to a successful completion during 1904—the "New International Encyclopædia," edited by D. C. Gilman, Harry Thurston Peck and F. M. Colby; and the "Jewish Encyclopædia," of which Isidore Singer is the editor-in-chief, had three new volumes added to it. Moulton's "Library of Literary Criticism" had its last volume published with volume eight, thus ending a valuable and interesting work. Other volumes that the literary worker wants close at hand were Fletcher and Bowker's "Annual Literary Index for 1903," "Annual American Catalogue Cumulated, 1900-1903," "The Supplementary Index" to the "Publishers' Trade List Annual for 1904." Of inestimable value to libraries great and small is the new "A. L. A. Catalogue, 1904," of 8000 volumes for a popular library, with notes. It is sent out free to libraries, and stands for an immense fund of well-digested information.

HISTORY.

The eyes of the world just now are upon Japan and Russia. And believing the literature concerning these two countries takes precedence of all others, we quote the volumes of History relating to them published during 1904 as the more important ones of this class. They come from various sources, American and English. From American writers two recent books written by eyewitnesses who were present during a greater part of the time in the Japanese camp, while the war with Russia was going on, seem to bring one very near the subject. Dr. L. Livingston Seaman in "From Tokio Through Manchuria with the Japanese" not only studied Japanese warfare in the field, but gave special attention to the marvellous arrangements made by Japan for the health of her army. Frederick Palmer's "With Kuroki in Manchuria" covers five months of campaigning. Mr. Palmer was sent by one of the New York weeklies. K. Asakawa, connected with Dartmouth College, considered one of the ablest students of Asiatic politics and history, presents the causes and issues under the title "The Russo-Japanese Conflict." An English war correspondent, Thomas Cowen, describes "The Russo-Japanese War" from the outbreak of hostilities to the battle of Liaoyang. Also from English sources come "Manchuria," by Alexander Hosie; "Manchuria and Korea," by Henry James Whigham; "Manchu and Muscovite," being letters from Manchuria written during the autumn of 1903; and "Korea," by Angus Hamilton, dealing with the facts of the present international complication. Mr. Hamilton was for two years the special correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette in the Far East. "Japan," by the late Lafcadio Hearn, is denominated by him "an attempt at interpretation," and gives a wonderful insight into Japanese character, history and religion. On somewhat the same lines is "The Awakening of Japan," by Okakura Kakuzo, a Japanese by birth who writes in English, and a man of broad culture, who is most appreciative of Japan's progress. A new edition brought up to date was issued of G. Waldo Browne's "Japan, the Place and the People." Then there is Professor James A. B. Scherer's "Japan To-Day," the keen observations of one who was for many years teacher of English in the government school at Saga, Japan; and Augusta M. C. Davidson's "Present Day Japan," W. P. Watson's "Japan, Aspects and Destinies," G. H. Rittner's "Impressions of Japan," and the Rev. A. J. Brown's "New Forces in Old China." Wolf von Schierbrand, who has travelled extensively through European and Asiatic Russia, making that country his special study, contributed two works closely related to the all-present subject—"Russia, Her Strength and Her Weakness," a study of the conditions of the Russian Empire, with an analysis of its resources and a forecast of its future, and "America, Asia and the Pacific," with special reference to the Russo-Japanese war and its results.

"The United States" and "The United States of America," the first by W. Estabrook Chancellor and Fletcher Willis Hewes and the second from the pen of Edwin Erle Sparks, break new ground in our life as a nation, under the strong searchlight of recent investigations. Mr. Erle's book is in two volumes, and is one of the Story of the Nations Series. It intelligently traces our development for the benefit of the general reader. The second work covers a larger field and will be divided into ten parts, only the first of which is issued. Each part covers a specific subject, the whole coming down to 1904. These works are from our own writers, as is "The United States and Porto Rico," by Leo S. Rowe. New works in our pioneer history are F. S. Dellenbaugh's "Breaking the Wilderness;" "The Trail of Lewis and Clark, 1804-1904," by Olin D. Wheeler, who went over the ground travelled by these explorers recently, and supplements the Lewis and Clark epic with information of the country gained from later writers. Reuben Gold Thwaites prepared for Appleton's Expansion of the Republic Series "A Brief History of Rocky Mountain Exploration," with special reference to the expedition of Lewis and Clark. Mr. Thwaites's "Early Western Travels, 1748-1846," started in 1904, is half way between history and description. Of the 31 volumes promised, nine have been published. This comprehensive series is a collection of annotated reprints of some of the best and rarest contemporary volumes of travel, descriptive of the native Indians and the social and economic conditions of the middle and far west during the period of early American settlement. "The Philippine Islands," 1493-1898," was increased by twelve volumes during the year. Archer Butler Hulbert's "Historic Highways of America" reached its fourteenth volume. George Brinton McClellan, the present mayor of Greater New York, was the author of a polished study on "The Oligarchy of Venice."

The new volumes to be noted in Story of the Nations Series were Mary Bateson's "Medieval England" and the second part of Dawson's "South American Republics." Sir T. H. Holdich's "India" belongs to the series of Regions of the World. "Greater America" found graphic treatment at the hands of Archibald Ross Colquhoun. Michael Davitt tells the story of the Irish movement known as the Land League in "The Fall of Feudalism in Ireland." Andrew Lang's valuable "History of Scotland from the Roman Occupation" was completed with volume third.

DESCRIPTION AND TRAVEL.

The works of description and travel gathered under this heading are always somewhat related to history, and are colored by the events of the year. They are largely the product of American authors. A new series, Our Asiatic Neighbours, edited by W. Harbutt Dawson, was initiated with "Indian Life in Town and Country," by Herbert Compton, a practical man of affairs who knows India from long residence. He is an Englishman, as is also George W. Knox, who wrote "Japanese Life in Town and Country" for the same series. He had lived many years in Japan, and writes as a close observer of daily Japanese life. Our European Neighbours, a favorite series of English origin, had added to it three charmingly readable and instructive books, viz., "Turkish Life in Town and Country," by Lucy M. J. Garnett; "Swedish Life in Town and Country," by O. G. von Heidenstam, and "Belgian Life in Town and Country," by Demetrius Boulger. "The Heart of the Orient" depicts the saunterings of Michael Myers Shoemaker, one of our own writers, through Georgia, Armenia, Persia, Turkomania and Turkestan to the Vale of Paradise in the winter of 1902. The writer shows the place of Russia in the civilization of the East. Esther Singleton made two books bearing upon the subjects of the year—"Japan as Seen and Described by Famous Writers" and "Russia as Seen and Described by Various Writers"—both being collections of articles by recognized authorities. Alfred Stead compiled "Japan by the Japanese" and Gilbert Watson wrote a descriptive narrative of the adventures of several Englishmen in "Three Rolling Stones in Japan." Mrs. Hugh Fraser's delightful "Letters from Japan," a record of modern life in the island empire, came out in a new one-volume edition. "As a Chinaman Saw Us," in his letters to a friend at home, is the work of a cultivated Chinaman, who studied us at close range. His satire is charmingly true.

Clifton Johnson's "Highways and Byways of the South" and Maud Howe's, (Mrs. G. Elliott,) "Roma Beata" are with the volumes that follow from American authors. These two works, favorites of the holiday season, are unusually attractive in text and illustrations. W. N. Armstrong went "Around the World with a King"—Kalakaua I. of the Hawaiian Islands. Arthur J. Burdick visited "The Mystic Mid-Region," the deserts of the Southwest, and recorded their dangerous and mysterious and beautiful aspects and conditions. Francis Miltoun's "Cathedrals of Southern France" is a companion volume to "The Cathedrals of Northern France." "The Better New York," by W. H. Tolman and Charles Hemistreet, gives the points of interest in the city of New York under a helpful and novel arrangement. Josephine Tozier's "Among English Inns" is an issue of the Little Pilgrimage Series, being the story of a trip to characteristic spots of rural England. The first volume of the new Trail Makers' Series was "The Journey of Coronado, 1540-1542." A graphic portrayal of famine-stricken India as seen by an American missionary is comprised in "In Famine Land."

"Further India" was a contribution to The Story of Exploration. The author, Hugh Clifford, tells the story of exploration in this region from the earliest times. "The Web of Indian Life" comes from the Sister Nivedita, (Margaret E. Noble,) who spent many years in India, writing with sympathy and understanding of the people and their ways, women being her predominant topic. "The White Man in Nigeria" is a description of a British colony in West Africa, by G. D. Hazledine. "The Gems of the East" are the least known and the most remarkable islands of the Philippines. Arthur H. S. Landor is the author. "Adventures of Elizabeth in Rügen" is a most enticing summer book, telling of the holiday making of the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden."

POETRY AND THE DRAMA.

Few of the original works of poetry belonging to 1904 seem destined to a long life. New editions of standards and classics give this department a fictitious importance in numbers. The majority of the original works was far below mediocrity. James Whitcomb Riley's "Out to Old Aunt Mary's" possesses a homely quality attractive to many readers. Frank Dempster Sherman's "Lyrics of Joy" is a graceful, musical collection of poems and sonnets. A niece of Helen Hunt Jackson—Miss Edith Colby Banfield—collected her poems into a volume with the name "The Place of My Desire." They are mostly descriptive of the scenery of her early residence. Thomas Bailey Aldrich's "Judith of Bethulia," a tragedy based on the Biblical story was favorably received. Cale Young Rice also wrote a tragedy on a Biblical subject, "David." Hermann Sudermann's "Fires of St. John," from the German, a pessimistic drama, found successful representation here.

"The Tar-Baby" and other rhymes of "Uncle Remus," and Paul Laurence Dunbar's "Li'l Gal" were among the choicely illustrated holiday books, as was "Poems of Childhood," by Eugene Field. "Poems That Every Child Should Know," compiled by Mary Elizabeth Burt, is from every point of view literary and otherwise, a most delightful anthology. "Florence in the Poetry of the Brownings" is a characteristic selection from the poems relating to Florence by Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning.

ART BOOKS AND WORKS OF ART.

Finely illustrated works or art works of originality or importance in any sense were the exception rather than the rule during 1904. Gibson's cartoons, sent out as "Everyday People," had no difficulty in finding buyers; Maxfield Parrish's pictures, richly printed in colors, made Mrs. Edith Wharton's "Italian Villas and Their Gardens," a superbly beautiful book; "Some English Gardens," after drawings by G. S. Elgood, was even more exquisite as a work than the former, being reproductions of unusual brilliancy and clearness of water-color drawings. The Connoisseur's Library, made on the other side, offered the lovers of exceptionally fine books two of its issues, the one being "Mezzotints," by Cyril Davenport, of the British Museum; the other "Porcelain," by Edward Dillon. Every art of the printer and artist was called into requisition in the making of these elegant works.

The conventional illustrated book, attractively adorned with reproductions of photographs of views or art objects, are named in the following group: "The Art of the Louvre," by Mary Knight Potter. "Switzerland" and "France," (2 v.), by Joel Cook; "Rome," (2 v.), by Walter Taylor Field; "Dumas' Paris," by Francis Miltoun; and "Classic Myths in Art," by Julia de Wolf Addison.

Caricature has been one of the strongest adjuncts of the modern newspaper, and has been the aid for generations in politics and in the making of history. One of our most virile cartoonists, "Thomas Nast," had his period and his pictures appreciatively considered by Albert Bigelow Paine. Other books that recommend themselves to the student of this branch of art are "The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature," by A. B. Maurice and F. T. Cooper; and "The Art of Caricature," by Grant Wright. Students and readers generally will find helpful aids in Russell Sturgis's "Appreciation of Sculpture;" Coffin's "American Masters of Sculpture," Heinrich Wölfflin's "The Art of the Italian Renaissance," taken from the German; "Story of Art Throughout the Ages," from the French of S. Reinach; and "The National Gallery" of London, by Gustave Geffroy.

Art as it illustrates changes in dress, furniture, architecture, the making of fabrics, rugs, etc., is the subject of most desirable monographs, such as "The Oriental Rug Book," by Mary Churchill Ripley; "The Lace Book," by N. Hudson Moore; "Historic Dress in America, 1607-1800," by Elizabeth McClellan; "American Renaissance," a review of domestic architecture, by Joy Wheeler Dow; "Style in Furniture," by R. Davis Benn; and Mary White's "How to Make Pottery."

Music and the Drama have their place in this classification, being the subjects of many desirable works. Richard Aldrich's "A Guide to Parsifal" and Alice Cleather and Basil Crump's "Parsifal, Lohengrin and the Legend of the Holy Grail" are for the Wagnerian devotee seeking intellectual enlightenment. We are indebted to Louis C. Elson for "The History of American Music," and to Arthur Elson for "Modern Composers of Europe." Lawrence Gilman, the musical critic of Harper's Weekly since 1901, bound together twelve of his critical papers as "Phases of Modern Music." Other well-known musical critics are represented by W. J. Henderson's "Modern Musical Drift" and J. G. Huneker's "Overtones." "Vocalism," its structure and culture from an English standpoint, written by W. H. Breare, seeks to do away with some of the difficulties that beset the paths of teachers of singing and their pupils.

POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE.

The books of this class are chiefly American. "Russia at the Bar of the American People," edited by Isidore Singer, is a memorial of the Kishineff massacre. "The History of the Standard Oil Company," as given by Ida Minerva Tarbell, tells the story of one of the greatest trusts in the world, and the personal histories of its chief organizers. "The Truth About Trusts," by John Moody, and "Trusts of To-Day," by Gilbert Holland Montague, are rich in facts relative to one of our most insidious modern evils. To define poverty and to estimate its extent at the present time in the United States is the aim of Robert Hunter's "Poverty," a book primarily for the general reader, being untechnical in style and most thoughtfully treated. Somewhat in the same line is "The Principles of Relief," by E. T. Devine.

Economics and correlated subjects were the inspiration of the books that follow: "The Tariff," by the late President William McKinley; "Modern Industrialism," by Frank Le Rand McVey; "Methods of Industrial Peace," by N. Paine Gilman; "Introduction to Economics," by Henry Rogers Seager; "The Modern Bank," by Amos Kidder Fiske; "The Theory of Business Enterprise," by Thorstein Veblen; and "Facts and Figures the Basis of Economic Science," by Edward Atkinson.

"The Republican Party," a history of its fifty years' existence and a record of its measure and leaders, is an invaluable reference work in two large volumes. Francis Curtis is its author. Grover Cleveland's "Presidential Problems" and Theodore Roosevelt's "Addresses and Presidential Messages" gave us the best of two of our greatest presidents. Studies of our Constitution and State government occupied the attention of two of our writers—"The Evolution of the Constitution of the United States of America and History of the Monroe Doctrine," coming from J. Adam Kasson, and "The American Constitutional System," an introduction to the study of the American state, from W. W. Willoughby. Nathaniel Southgate Shaler also made a study of the individual and the government in "The Citizen," and a study of human relations in "The Neighbor." Municipal corruption suggested investigations resulting in articles offered in book form as "The Shame of the Cities," by Lincoln Steffens. "The Negro," the Southerner's problem, has been studied by Thomas Nelson Page. Vital problems of the home meet with discussion in Lavinia Hart's "When a Maid Marries." "Imported Americans" is a study of the immigration question from the Italian standpoint, by Broughton Brandenburg and his wife. Hugo Münsterberg, a distinguished writer of German birth well known in this country, turned the camera on our countrymen in "The Americans," caustically and at times flatteringly sketching their gifts and peculiarities. Aylmer Maude's "Tolstoy and His Problems" are essays resulting from an Englishman's personal intercourse of some years with Tolstoi. Count Tolstoi's "Bethink Yourselves" found four publishers in translations. It is a severe arraignment of war and bloodshed.

RELIGION AND THEOLOGY.

Sermons, handbooks, aids for Sunday-school teachers, discourses, reprints of the Bible in many forms make up this department. Of epoch-making books it is singularly devoid, or of anything startlingly fresh and new. Of special intellectual texture is "Christian Faith in an Age of Science," by W. North Rice, aiming to make plain the status of Christianity in a scientific age, the author being professor of geology in Wesleyan University. The Ingersoll lectures of 1904, by Dr. William Osler, Professor of Medicine in Johns Hopkins University, denominated "Science and Immortality," offer the broad views of a profound thinker. Another preacher abreast of all the great questions of the day is Washington Gladden, whose sermons are collected in a book—"Where Does the Sky Begin?" "The Christian Philosophy of Life" represents sermons preached in the Dartmouth College Church by the Rev. S. Penniman Leeds, and are "largely ethical." The odd title, "Six Incursions, (by a predatory pew,) Into Some Theologic Fastnesses," by Edward A. Jenks, stands for essays for the strictly orthodox. "Students' Old Testament," rearranged by Charles Foster Kent in six volumes, had the first volume issued during the year. The Rev. Dr. George Waller's "The Biblical View of the Soul" is an argument for immortality supported by quotations from the Old and New Testaments. "The Little Book of Life After Death," translated from the German of Gustav Theodor Fechner, gives a new conception of the spirit's destination. "Religions of Authority and the Religion of the Spirit," taken from the French of Auguste Sabatier, expounds a helpful and hopeful scheme of philosophy and religion. M. M. M.

AMERICAN BOOK PRODUCTION IN

THE number of books recorded by THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY in 1904, through its "Weekly Record of New Publications," was 8291. The new editions of standard works, and the additions to series are included in this total, of which 6971 are new books and 1320 new editions. The whole number of books put on record in 1904 by the WEEKLY exceeded the number for 1903 by 426, when the total was 7865. Our table shows 1178 more new books than in 1903, when the figures were only 5793, and 752 less new editions; that is, 1320 new editions for 1904 against 2072 new editions for 1903. The increased proportion of new books over all previous years illustrates in a marked degree the steady, normal growth of the publishing business in a year—a Presidential year—when great things were not looked for. Our analytical table, dividing the year's output into twenty classes, betrays few notable changes. Fiction keeps its old place at the head of the list, with one of the largest majorities it has had in many years. Theology and Religion, which in 1903 lost its position as the second in numbers to Fiction, regained it in 1904, being followed closely by Literature and Collected Works, Education and Law. Juvenile books were not as abundant as in 1903, Poetry and the Drama and Biography both taking a step above this class. Physical and Mathematical Science moved to a position above History, while Description, etc., fell two steps lower than it has usually held. There was little Philosophy in the year's make-up, and even less Humor. Out of the whole total of 8291 books recorded, 3750 were received at this office, against 3549 of 1903, being an increase of 201. The balance represents titles gathered from copyright entries, from information sent us by publishers, and in various other ways. There were of these 4541 against 4316 of the same class in 1903, an increase of 225. Table No. 1 gives in classes the figures, approximately, of the book production in this country in 1904, with those of 1903 for comparison.

Table No. 2 attempts to show the number of books manufactured in the United States in 1904—first, those by American authors; second, those by English or other foreign authors made in this country according to the demands of copyright law, and third, the books in English imported bound or in sheets, these three classes comprising the book production of the United States in 1904. The first and second classes are almost all copyright books. This table, like the former, scarcely claims to be exactly correct, as it is impossible always to trace the history of a work, from its author to its final publication. The table shows 5978 books by American authors against 5621 of 1903; 1288 books by English or other foreign authors (made here) against 1356 of 1903, and 1025 books or sheets imported, against 888 of 1903. The reprints were, as usual, the largest in Fiction, amounting to 491, far less, however, than in several years previous, when almost double that number of English or other foreign novels were reprinted. The most evident fact demonstrated by this table is the great number of books by American authors published in 1904 in all classes of literature.

ENGLISH BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1904.

THE total number of books and pamphlets published in England during 1904, according to the London Publishers' Circular, is about the same as in 1903, but if those under the heading Miscellaneous be disregarded—and they are chiefly pamphlets—the bound books for last year number about two hundred more than in the year before. The total of Fiction is about the same as in 1903, and nearly a hundred more than in 1902. "Sewn" sixpenny novels were almost as plentiful as in 1903. Politics and Trade have increased by more than a century and a half—largely on account of the fiscal controversy—and Educational works by nearly a century. Books of Biography and History number eighty more than before, and so do those classed under Arts and Science, also those of Travel, thanks to interest in Japan and Russia and Tibet, and spite of the fact that the issue of Guide Books has not been so large as usual. In Belles-Lettres there is a falling-off of nearly a hundred."

The analytical table prepared by The Publishers' Circular makes the following showing:

REPORT OF THE REGISTER OF COPYRIGHTS FOR 1903-4.

THE Register of Copyrights, Mr. Thorvald Solberg, having been delayed in issuing his report for the calendar year 1904, we are able for the present to give only his figures for the fiscal year from July 1, 1903, to June 30, 1904, inclusive, which are summarized as follows:

RECEIPTS.

The gross receipts during the year were $75,302.83. A balance of $1691.84, representing trust funds and unfinished business, was on hand July 1, 1903, making a total of $76,994.67 to be accounted for. Of this amount the sum of $2200.38 was refunded, having been sent to the Copyright Office as excess fees, or as fees for articles not registrable, leaving a net balance of $74,794.29. The balance carried over July 1, 1904, was $2165.29 (representing trust funds, $1728.38, and total unfinished business since July 1, 1897—seven years—$436.91), leaving for fees applied during the fiscal year 1903-4, $72,629.

EXPENDITURES.

The appropriation made by Congress for salaries in the Copyright Office for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, was $70,440. Of this amount the total expenditure for salaries was $70,260.70, or $2368.30 less than the net amount of fees earned and paid into the Treasury. The expenditure for supplies, stationery, postage on foreign mail matter, and other articles, except furniture, was $902.75. The necessary furniture is paid for out of a special appropriation, and the cost of the record books, bulletins, and other printed matter is charged to the appropriation for printing. The figures for these expenditures are not available.

The copyright fees received and paid into the United States Treasury during the last seven years, from July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1904, amount to $449,277.50, while the sum used of the appropriations for salaries during that period was $352,925.76, leaving an excess of fees over appropriations used for service for the seven years of $96,351.74.

During these same seven years the articles received as deposits amount to a grand total of 1,068,719 pieces, including two copies each of 54,921 books and pamphlets, 34,335 leaflets, 46,865 periodical contributions, 4992 dramatic compositions, 116,743 separate numbers of periodicals, 132,706 musical compositions, 10,759 maps and charts, 33,011 engravings, cuts, and prints, 10,801 chromos and lithographs, 80,583 photographs, and 389 miscellaneous articles. In addition to the above, 16,509 photographs were deposited to identify the same number of original works of art—paintings, drawings, and statuary—of which the descriptions had been filed. Many of these articles are of considerable value.

COPYRIGHT ENTRIES AND FEES.

The entries of titles for the fiscal year reached the highest number in the history of the Copyright Office, namely, 103,130. Of these entries 92,720 were titles of the productions of citizens or residents of the United States and 10,410 were titles of works by foreigners. The fees for these entries were: United States, $46,360; foreign, $10,410, or a total of $56,770.

Of the foreign entries 2649 were with certificates, and of the United States entries 24,863, or a total of 27,512 certificates, at fees amounting to $13,756. In addition, 1600 copies of record were furnished for $800 in fees; assignments to the number of 1093 were recorded and certified, at a charge of $1273, and search fees charged to the amount of $30. The details of the Copyright Office business and applied fees are set out in Exhibits A, B, and C.

The number of entries in each class from July 1, 1903, to June 30, 1904, as compared with the number of entries made in the previous fiscal year, is seen in Exhibit F.

COPYRIGHT DEPOSITS.

The various articles deposited in compliance with the copyright law, which have been receipted for, stamped, credited, indexed, and catalogued during the fiscal year amount to 184,799. This is a gain of 7280 over the preceding fiscal year. The number of these articles in each class for the six fiscal years is shown in Exhibit G, and indicates a grand total of 1,068,719 articles received in the six years.

COPYRIGHT CATALOGUE AND INDEX.

The usual four quarterly volumes of the Catalogue of Title Entries were printed, but, although containing more entries than the four volumes for the previous fiscal year, the number of printed pages is less (4971), owing to the careful method of condensation used in making the required statements of name of claimant, date, number of entry, etc.

The title index cards for the fiscal year number 169,389. After having been first used as the copy for the printed catalogue required to be produced weekly by the act of Congress of March 3, 1891 (Fifty-first Congress, second session, chapter 565), these cards are added to the permanent card indexes of the copyright entries, which now number a total of 1,075,000 cards.

CONDITION OF COPYRIGHT OFFICE WORK.

(a) Current work.

The current work of the Copyright Office is now kept as nearly up to date as is possible in an office where the daily business is so fluctuating. During the year the title registrations have varied from 107 in one day to 4031 on another day. A clerical force large enough to clear off immediately the applications received on exceptionally large days would be idle during the days when a small number of applications were received. Owing to this fluctuation in the number of applications (a matter over which the office has no control) a system of administration has been found necessary that will admit of an immediate shifting of clerical force to any congested spot, so that there can be a prompt clearing up of the accumulated business.

At this date (July 2, 1904) the remittances received up to the first mail of the day have been recorded and acknowledged; the account books of the bookkeeping division are written up and posted to June 30, and the accounts rendered to the Treasury Department are settled up to and including the month of June, while earned fees to June 30, inclusive, have been paid into the Treasury.

All copyright applications received up to and including June 30 have been passed upon and refunds made. The total unfinished business for the full seven years, from July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1904, amounts to but $436.91.

Titles for record in all classes have been dated, classified, and numbered to June 30. All titles are indexed up to June 30, except Class A (books) and Class C (musical compositions), which are indexed to June 29.

The articles deposited are stamped, cataloged, and credited up to the receipts of June 27 of Class A (books); June 25 of Class E (maps and charts), Class F (engravings), Class G (chromos and lithographs), and Class H (photographs); June 30 of Class I (original works of art); while Class C (music) and Class D (dramatic compositions) are credited to June 28, and Class B (periodicals) to June 30. The Catalogue of Title Entries has been brought forward to No. 678 of June 30, 1904.

The certificate and noncertificate entries (all classes, except A and B, to June 27) have been recorded to June 29, inclusive, and certificates to the same date made, revised, and mailed.

(b) Copyright business prior to July 1, 1897.

Congress, in the appropriation act for the fiscal year just closed, continued the special force for work on the arrears of Copyright Office business prior to July 1, 1897. The examination and arrangement of the mass of deposits has been continued, and a total of 80,770 articles have been handled, including the segregation and filing of 37,885 pieces of music and 23,694 miscellaneous articles (books, dramas, maps, engravings, chromos, photographs, etc.).

More than 8000 index cards were written, and 1844 entries cleared and the necessary credits made.

COPYRIGHT LEGISLATION AND INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT RELATIONS.

I. NEW LAW.

During the fiscal year covered by this report six separate measures were presented to Congress regarding copyright, one of which became law. This was an "Act to afford protection to exhibitors of foreign literary, artistic, or musical works at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition," approved January 7, 1904. This act (the full text of which is printed in the Appendix, pp. 127-129), gives to the author (or the heirs and assigns of the author) of any book, map, chart, dramatic or musical composition, engraving, cut or print, chromo or lithograph, photograph, painting, drawing, statue, statuary, or a model or design intended to be perfected as a work of the fine arts, which is produced abroad and sent for exhibit to the St. Louis Exposition during 1904, copyright protection for an interim term of two years, dating from the receipt of one copy of the article in the Library of Congress, or, in the case of a work of the fine arts, of a description and a photograph of it. A fee of $1.50 is required for the registration of each title with a certificate; each volume of a book in more than one volume requiring separate entry and fee. The fees thus received at the Copyright Office are required to be paid into the Treasury of the United States. The act provides that no registrations are to be made thereunder after the 30th day of November, 1904. If during the two years' term of protection, in the case of a book, two copies of the original text of any such book, or of a translation of it in the English language, are deposited in the Copyright Office printed from type set within the limits of the United States or from plates made therefrom, or, in the case of a photograph, chromo, or lithograph, two copies printed from negatives, or drawings on stone made within the limits of the United States or from transfers made therefrom, are deposited, such deposit in either case shall be held to extend the term of the protection for the full terms of the present copyright law, viz., forty-two years. Except in so far as this act authorizes and provides for temporary copyright protection it is not to be construed or held in any manner to affect or repeal any of the provisions of the Revised Statutes relating to copyrights or the acts amendatory thereof.

After the passage of this act the question was raised whether it removed the interdiction of importation provided by the act of March 3, 1891, so far as publications exhibited at St. Louis and registered under the new law were concerned, and an inquiry to this effect was submitted by the German ambassador to the Secretary of State, who transferred the inquiry to the Secretary of the Treasury and to the Librarian of Congress. The Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury, replied to the ambassador's question in the affirmative, under date of March 12, and the Register of Copyrights submitted to the Librarian of Congress a "Memorandum" dated March 19, to the effect that the prohibition of importation of the act of March 3, 1891, does not apply to the articles named in section 1 of the act of January 7, 1904.

II. PROPOSED LEGISLATION.

In addition to the interim copyright bill referred to above, which became law, five distinct copyright measures were presented to the present Congress for its consideration. These were treated in various bills and reports, but failed of enactment into law.

a. Copyright protection for translations of foreign books.

On November 16, 1903, Senator Platt, of Connecticut, introduced "A bill to amend chapter forty-nine hundred and fifty-two of the Revised Statutes," which was read twice, referred to the Senate Committee on Patents, and printed as Senate Bill No. 849. This bill proposes an amendment to section 4952 of the Revised Statutes, relating to copyrights, to the effect that in the case of a book originally published abroad in a foreign language, if the author obtains a copyright for a translation of it within twelve months after the first publication of the book, he shall thus obtain for the term of the copyright—

"the sole liberty of printing, reprinting, publishing, vending, translating, and dramatizing the said book, and, in the case of a dramatic composition, of publicly performing the same, or of causing it to be performed or represented by others."

An error having occurred in the first page of this bill as originally printed, it was ordered reprinted on December 8, 1903, as Senate Bill No. 2229, and was reported by Senator Clapp, from the Senate Committee on Patents, on January 8, 1904, with the recommendation "that it pass without amendment."

This same measure was introduced in the House of Representatives by Mr. Currier, of New Hampshire, on December 9, 1903, and was referred to the House Committee on Patents and ordered to be printed as House Bill No. 6487, entitled "A bill to amend chapter forty-nine hundred and fifty-two of the Revised Statutes." The bill was reported to the House by the Committee on Patents on March 1, 1904, with amendments, and was referred to the House Calendar and ordered printed, and was reprinted without change of number, the report being also printed as House Report No. 1287. The amendment proposed by the Committee on Patents (in addition to the shifting of some commas, and the changing of "chapter 4952" to "section 4952" in the title of the bill) is the addition of a proviso to the effect that the act—

"shall only apply to a citizen or subject of a foreign state or nation when such foreign state or nation permits to citizens of the United States of America the benefit of copyright on the same basis as is given to its citizens by this act."

Congress adjourned without further action by either House on this bill.

b. Free text-books.

A bill to establish a series of free text-books to be used in the public schools of the United States was introduced by Mr. Knapp, of New York, on January 8, 1904, and was referred to the House Committee on Education and ordered printed. It appears as House Bill No. 9297 of the Fifty-eighth Congress, second session, and is printed in full in the Appendix to this report, pages 144-145. The bill was not reported back to the House.

c. Checks, vouchers, certificates, or other business forms.

Mr. Bartholdt, of Missouri, introduced, on January 8, 1904, "by request," "A bill to amend title sixty, chapter three, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to copyrights," which was referred to the House Committee on Patents and ordered printed. It appeared as House Bill No. 9324, and on January 30 was reintroduced, slightly altered, and reprinted as House Bill No. 11450. The purpose of this bill is to secure the insertion in the list of the subject-matters of copyright of the following articles: "Any check, voucher, certificate, or other business form entirely or partly printed." Congress has taken no further action on this bill.

d. Affidavit that copyright books have been type set in the United States.

On March 2, 1904, Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, introduced "A bill to amend the copyright laws," which was referred to the House Committee on Patents and ordered to be printed. The bill appeared as House Bill No. 13355, and proposes a proviso to section 4956 of the Revised Statutes, which requires the deposit of American-made copies in the case of books, photographs, chromos, and lithographs, that such copies be accompanied by an affidavit that they have been thus produced in the United States. The bill was reported with an amendment on April 26, 1904, referred to the House Calendar, and ordered to be reprinted. The bill as amended provides:

"That accompanying the two copies of the book, photograph, chromo or lithograph required to be delivered or deposited, as herein provided, there shall be an affidavit under the official seal of any officer authorized to administer oaths within the United States, duly made by the person desiring the said copyright or by his duly authorized agent or representative residing in the United States, setting forth that the two copies required to be so deposited have been printed from type set within the limits of the United States or from plates made therefrom, or from negatives or drawings on stone made within the limits of the United States or from transfers made therefrom; * * * and the place within the limits of the United States at which such type was set, or plates or negatives were made, and by whom."

A second section of the bill further provides:

"That any person violating any of the provisions of this act or who shall be guilty of making a false affidavit as to his having complied with the conditions thereof for the purpose of obtaining a copyright shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, and all of his rights and privileges under said copyright shall thereafter be forfeited."

The bill was reported by Mr. Otis, of New York, from the House Committee on Patents, on April 26, and the report was referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed as House Report No. 2857. The report states that the present law which requires the deposit of two copies of a copyright publication printed from type set within the United States does not require any proof to be filed that such books have been so printed, nor impose any penalty for failure to comply with this condition, and continues:

"After investigation your committee have reason to believe that it is not only possible, but that in some instances the present law has been evaded and violated to the injury of American labor, and that this can be done with comparative ease under the existing law; that there is no remedy and no means of enforcing this condition as to printing from type set by American labor and within our own country. That being the case, your committee is of the opinion that the person applying for a copyright should be required as a condition precedent to furnish proof in the form of an affidavit that all of these conditions with respect to the labor employed in the printing and the place of printing the copies of books to be deposited have been complied with, and in the event that any false statement is made in said affidavit concerning a material fact, and upon conviction thereof, the person thus attempting to obtain a copyright should be punished and the copyright forfeited."

The committee recommends that, as amended, the bill do pass. No further action on this bill was taken by Congress before its adjournment.

c. Consent of copyright proprietor to importation of copyright books.

Senator Platt, of Connecticut, introduced, on March 30, 1904, "A bill to amend title sixty, chapter three, of the Revised Statutes, relating to copyrights," which was read twice and referred to the Senate Committee on Patents, and printed as Senate Bill No. 5314. The purport of this bill is to add to the provisions of section 4956 of the Revised Statutes, relating to copyrights, a proviso to the effect that "the privilege accorded to certain institutions under paragraph five hundred and fifteen of section two [of the tariff act of October first, eighteen hundred and ninety,] to import free of duty not more than two copies of books, maps, lithographic prints and charts, shall apply to the importation of books, maps, lithographic prints, and charts which have been copyrighted in the United States, only when the holders of the American copyrights thereof in writing consent to such importation," and that the exception to the prohibition of importation in favor of persons purchasing for use and not for sale, who import, subject to the duty thereon, not more than two copies of a book at any one time, such importation shall be only "with the written consent of the holders of the American copyrights." Congress adjourned before this bill was reported from the committee.

III. INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT RELATIONS.

Cuba.—During the past fiscal year two proclamations have been issued by the President dealing with our copyright relations with other nations. The first proclamation, dated November 17, 1903, extends to the citizens of Cuba the full privileges of our copyright laws, under the provisions of section 13 of the copyright act of March 3, 1891.

China.—The second Presidential proclamation announces the treaty entered into between the United States and China for the extension of the commercial relations between them. This treaty was signed at Shanghai, October 8, 1903; ratification advised by the Senate of the United States December 18, 1903; ratified by China January 10, 1904; by the President January 12, 1904, and ratifications exchanged at Washington January 13, 1904, on which day the treaty was proclaimed. Of this convention the ninth article relates to trade-marks, the tenth to patents, and the eleventh to copyrights. By this last article it is agreed that China, in order to secure the benefits of the copyright laws of the United States for its subjects, undertakes to give full protection—"in the same way and manner and subject to the same conditions upon which it agrees to protect trade-marks, to all citizens of the United States who are authors, designers or proprietors of any book, map, print or engraving especially prepared for the use and education of the Chinese people, or translation into Chinese of any book, in the exclusive right to print and sell such book, map, print, engraving or translation in the Empire of China during ten years from the date of registration."

IV. REVISION OF THE COPYRIGHT LAWS.

It is generally admitted by those most concerned that our copyright laws need revision. The fact that no less than five distinct copyright measures were brought before Congress at its last session is evidence of this need. The question arises how the defects and limitations of the present statutes, as well as such changes as may be deemed desirable, can best receive the careful and adequate consideration required. It is doubtful if the enactment of further merely partial or temporizing legislation will afford satisfactory remedies for the insufficiencies and inconsistencies of the present laws. The subject should be dealt with as a whole, and the insufficient and antiquated laws now in force be replaced by one consistent, liberal and adequate statute.

The laws as they stand fail to give protection required, are difficult of interpretation, application and administration, leading to misapprehension and misunderstanding, and in some directions are open to abuses. During more than a century of legislation upon this subject a highly technical copyright system has been developed, under which valuable literary and artistic property rights have come to depend upon exact compliance with statutory formalities which have in reality nothing to do with the equitable rights involved, and the defense of such property against infringement may be rendered nugatory by reason of failure to fully comply with purely arbitrary requirements. This necessity of explicit compliance with certain statutory stipulations as a prerequisite to protection distinguishes our copyright legislation from that of all other countries, and the question should be met whether this condition ought to be continued. Many other important and difficult questions arise in relation to the amendment of the copyright laws, and I beg to again recommend that Congress appoint a commission, adequately representing the different interests concerned, to prepare a draft of a satisfactory codified copyright statute to be submitted for its consideration.

A bibliography of all bills, reports, petitions and other miscellaneous documents relating to copyright which have been brought to the attention of Congress from 1789 to 1904, inclusive, has been compiled from official sources, and, together with a chronological record of the action taken by Congress in relation thereto, is submitted as a supplement to my recent Special Report on Copyright Legislation.

EUROPEAN BOOK PRODUCTION,
1901-1903.

Le Droit d'Auteur in its issue for December 15, 1904, gives the following statistics of books published in a number of European States from 1901 to 1903, supplementing the figures quoted in our "Annual Summary Number" for 1904, from The Independent for January, 1904:

BELGIUM.

The Institut International de Bibliographie has supplied the following statistics of book production in 1903, which are arranged in a comparative table with the two preceding years:

	1901	1902	1903
Bibliography.....	26	35	63
Philosophy and Morals.....	68	69	57

Children's Books, Picture Books.....	228	207
General Literature, Sports.....	52	55
Total.....	2,917	3,005

For the first time in the seven years these statistics have been given the number of works exceeds 3000. The increase is chiefly in the departments of Political Science and Statistics, of Education and of Fiction.

ITALY.

The statistics of book production have suffered eclipse in Italy, but the spirit of scientific investigation has become so earnest in that country that it is impossible to believe that this cessation of statistical research will be permanent. The Bibliografia Italiana already contains the gist of the information required, which only awaits a practised classifying hand to be put in shape for general comparison.

RUSSIA.

Very little information has been obtained on Russian book production since 1901, when the Droit d'Auteur made a comparative table of fifteen years and the output of 1901 amounted to 5935.

Religion.....	1222

SCANDINAVIA.

Since the beginning of the 20th century no statistics of the book production of Sweden have appeared. The Nordisk Boghandler-Tidende for 1903 only gives the statistics of Denmark and Norway.

BOOK PRODUCTION IN FRANCE, 1904.

THE number of books published in France during 1904, according to the records of the Bibliographie de la France, was 12,139, or 125 more than in 1903. The number of musical compositions recorded in 1904 was 6429, or 395 less than in 1903, and the number of engravings, lithographs and photographs recorded in 1904 was 927, or 23 less than were recorded in 1903. In order to determine the exact number of books as distinguished from pamphlets, leaflets and similar minor publications it would be safe perhaps to deduct about 2000 titles. Last year the difference amounted to exactly 2590, leaving the number of books 9674, as against the 12,264 titles recorded in the official journal.

BEST-SELLING BOOKS DECEMBER-JANUARY.

ACCORDING to The Bookman the six books which have sold best in the order of demand between the 1st of December and the 1st of January are:

IN HONOR OF A BOOK—"PROGRESS AND POVERTY."

HONORS to authors during and after their lifetime are not unknown. Recognition of their work has come to not a few while they were still alive in a day within the recollection of even the younger generations, and monuments of marble and brass have been reared to more during the same period—but long after the death of the men and women so honored. Streets have been named after dead authors, and even pretentious apartment houses in some of the large cities of the world bear the names of authors who during their existence had barely a place wherein to rest from the pursuit of importunate creditors. But that the publication of a book should be commemorated is, we believe, a unique event in the history of letters. This honor was conferred upon "Progress and Poverty," by Henry George, which upon its appearance in 1880 gave little promise of success and was, as a matter of fact, greeted with derision, while its author when not damned outright was stamped as a visionary, a "blind leader of the blind," an anarchist and worse.

But time has modified the earlier judgments, and on the anniversary dinner held at the Hotel Astor on the evening of January 24, the descendants of Henry George had the gratification of listening to the representative of at least one newspaper which for years had been a violent opponent of the theories of the author of "Progress and Poverty" pay his respects to the sense of justice that inspired Henry George's work.

About 250 men and women representing the intellectual element of this country, as well as the adherents of Henry George's economical ideas, gathered in one of the handsome dining rooms of the Hotel Astor to listen to representative speakers who reviewed the influence of "Progress and Poverty," and considered the probable future trend of public thought and action. Hamlin Garland presided and acted as toastmaster.

Among those present were Charles Frederick Adams, Professor Robert E. Ely, W. W. Appleton, George Harvey, Ripley Hitchcock, Dr. Henry M. Leipziger, Walter S. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Mack, the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas R. Slicer, John Brisen Walker, Dan Beard, Lincoln Steffens, Walter H. Page, Edward M. Grout, Homer Davenport, Norman Hapgood, George Cary Eggleston, W. G. Jordan, John De Witt Warner, and a number of others equally well known. Father Ducey, who arrived after the speaking began, was warmly greeted by the entire gathering.

Letters of regret were read from Edward M. Shepard, the Hon. Tom L. Johnson, Governor Folk of Missouri, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and Dr. Albert Shaw. Foreign tributes were read from Wilhelm von Polenz, a German writer; Adolf Damashke, president of the German Land Reform League; George Brandes, the Danish critic; Svend Hogsbro, Danish member of Parliament, and George Bernard Shaw. Mr. Shaw wrote among others: "What Henry George did not teach you you are being taught now by your great trusts and combines, as to which I need only say that if you would take them over as national property as cheerfully as you took over the copyrights of all my early books you would find them excellent institutions, quite in the path of progressive evolution, and by no means to be discouraged or left unregulated as if they were nobody's business but their own.

"It is a great pity that you all take America for granted because you were born in it, I who have never crossed the Atlantic, and have taken nothing American for granted, find I know ten times as much about your country as you do yourselves, and my ambition is to repay my debt to Henry George by coming over some day and trying to do for your young men what Henry George did nearly a quarter of a century ago for me."

Edwin Markham, author of "The Man with the Hoe," etc., read a poem on "The Deathless Dead," after which Henry George, Jr., gave an interesting history of his father's work. He said in part: "Out of the open West came a young man of less than thirty to this great city of New York. He was small of stature and slight of build. His Alma Mater had been the forecastle and the printing office. He was poor, unheralded, unknown. He came from a small city rising at the Western golden portals of the country to set up for a struggling little newspaper there a telegraphic news bureau despite the opposition of the combined powerful press and telegraph monopolies."

"The struggle was too unequal. The young man was overborne by the monopolies and his little paper crushed. This young man was Henry George and the time was 1869. But though defeated, Henry George was not vanquished."

"Returning to San Francisco soon after his telegraphic news failure, and keeping his vow nurtured in his heart, Henry George perceived that land speculation locked up vast territories against labor. Everywhere he perceived an effort to 'corner' land, an effort to get it and to hold it, not for use, but for a 'rise.' Everywhere he perceived that this caused all who wished to use it to compete with each other for it; and he foresaw that as population grew the keener that competition would become. Those who had a monopoly of the land would practically own those who had to use the land."

"Filled with these ideas, Henry George in 1871 sat down and in the course of four months wrote a little book under the title of 'Our Land and Land Policy.' In that small volume of forty-eight pages he advocated the destruction of land monopoly by shifting all taxes from labor and the products of labor and concentrating them in one tax on the value of land, irrespective and exclusive of improvements. A thousand copies of this small book were printed, but the author quickly perceived that really to command attention the work would have to be done more thoroughly."

"That more thorough work came something more than six years later. In September, 1877, the writing of "Progress and Poverty" was begun. It was the oak that grew out of the acorn of 'Our Land and Land Policy.' The larger book became 'an inquiry into industrial depressions and of increase of want with increase of wealth,' and pointed out the remedy."

"The book was finished in March, 1879, after a year and seven months of intense labor, and the undergoing of privations that frequently forced the author to pawn his personal effects."

"And when the last page was written, in the dead of night, when he was entirely alone, Henry George flung himself upon his knees and wept like a child. He had kept his vow."

The book was made in San Francisco at the author's expense, and was published in September, 1879, with the imprint of D. Appleton & Co. In sending the first copy of the book to his father Mr. George expressed his confidence in the success of his work in a letter from which the following extract is taken: "It will not be recognized at first—maybe not for some time—but it will ultimately be considered a great book, will be published in both hemispheres, and will be translated into different tongues. This I know, though neither of us may see it here." At a rough estimate the book has sold in various editions and in translations in various tongues to the extent of upwards of two million copies. Including with these the other books that have followed from Henry George's pen, and which might be called the "Progress and Poverty" literature, perhaps five million copies have been given to the world. It was published serially in New York Truth, and also was inserted in a speech delivered in the House of Representatives and reprinted in the Congressional Record.

Ernest Thompson Seton told three fables with economic morals. Dr. Richard Burton, the well-known writer, spoke on the book's influence upon literature; William Lloyd Garrison read a paper on the book's plea for justice; Louis F. Post spoke of the book's economic message, and William Jennings Bryan spoke on the subject of "Equal Opportunity," his visit to Tolstoy, and on the importance of the moral principle in our government and society. In referring to his visit to Tolstoy he said: "The greatest day of my life was a little more than a year ago, when I spent eight days in the home of Tolstoy. There were two Americans he spoke to me about. The son of one sits at my left, Henry George, Jr.; the son of the other sits at my right, William Lloyd Garrison. He indorsed the work of Henry George, and he read to me an introduction to a life of the elder Garrison. It was Henry George's heart that gave him the splendid courage to put his work before the world. The dominant thought of to-day is to my mind that the moral questions in government attract attention as never before."

The souvenirs were silver medallions bearing a portrait of Henry George with the dates 1839-1897, and on the reverse an open book with the dates 1880 and 1905 on either side, the title "Progress and Poverty" on the top, and at the bottom the legend: "Liberty means justice and justice natural law." The medallion was designed by Richard F. George, a son of the author.

THE JOHN C. WINSTON COMPANY TAKES OVER THE BUSINESS OF HENRY T. COATES & CO.

THE transfer of the business of Henry T. Coates & Co. to the John C. Winston Company took place on January 16. It is the purpose of the John C. Winston Company not only to maintain the high standard of the extensive line of Henry T. Coates & Co., but also to improve it in many ways and continually add to the already large number of titles, and they will soon announce some new attractive books. Although the Winston Company has taken over almost a thousand titles from Henry T. Coates & Co., they are prepared to push with equal vigor their "International" line of Bibles. They will also add to this line several new and attractive features which will commend themselves to the trade generally.

The fire which occurred in the establishment of Henry T. Coates & Co. on December 19, 1904, almost entirely destroyed the bound stock which they had in the building at the time, but fortunately all the orders for the Christmas season had in a large measure been filled and there was no serious inconvenience to the trade. At the time of the fire the plates and sheet stock of Henry T. Coates & Co. were distributed around among numerous binderies in Philadelphia, and immediate steps were taken to have the stock lost by fire replaced by new stock immediately, so that there would be no serious delay in filling subsequent orders. The plates of all kinds, books of the company and the unbound and bound stock have now been transferred to the John C. Winston Company's building, Nos. 1006-1016 Arch Street, where, with their increased facilities for manufacturing and shipment, all orders for Henry T. Coates & Co.'s publication will receive prompt attention.

THE STITT PUBLISHING COMPANY.

THE STITT PUBLISHING COMPANY has been organized by William M. Stitt, Jr., Joseph Scammell and W. L. Mershon, to do a general publishing and publishers' agency business.

The new company has acquired from the Mershon Company the well-known Rover Boys' Series, the juveniles of Winfield and Meade and others, to which they will add a number of new titles for the fall trade.

They will be the exclusive selling agents for the Mershon Company, and also of several other publishers, announcements of which will be made later.

Mr. Scammell, who was for years with the Chicago branch of Brentano's, will make his headquarters in Chicago, and Mr. Stitt, well known to the trade through his connections with Saalfeld & Fitch, Frederick A. Stokes Company and the Mershon Company, will look after the eastern end of the business, with headquarters at 156 Fifth Avenue. Both members of the firm have been long and favorably known to the trade as enterprising and well-informed bookmen. Starting with a large line of desirable books their success seems a foregone conclusion.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

JAMES FINCH, who has had upwards of twenty-one years' experience of the trade, has established himself as literary agent, at Effingham House, Arundel Street, Strand, London.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just published "The Catholic Ideal of the Church," an essay toward Christian unity, by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Chauncey B. Brewster, Bishop of Connecticut. Mr. Whittaker has in preparation for the coming Lent season "The Last Discourses of Our Lord," in forty readings, by the Rev. Dr. A. G. Mortimer.

THE CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS is preparing a series of twelve photogravure facsimiles of rare fifteenth century books, the first four of which will be issued in the spring. These are Chaucer's "Anelida and Areite," John Lydgate's "Temple of Glass," Thomas Betson's "Right Profytable Treatyse," and a Latin book published at St. Albans by "the schoolmaster printer."

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will bring out in February under the title of "Christ, Our Life and Light," a series of Lenten readings selected from the unpublished writings of the late Bishop Phillips Brooks. They will also publish next month a new book by Katherine Burrill, entitled "Corner Stones." The volume contains a series of talks on various subjects addressed primarily to girls, based on the thought "that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace."

"IN SEARCH OF A SIBERIAN KLONDIKE," hitherto sold by the Century Company only at two dollars net, is now announced in an edition at one dollar and a half. The text of the volume remains unchanged. This is the book, it will be remembered, which tells the story of Washington Vanderlip's fourteen months' prospecting for a Russian syndicate. His adventures in Kamchatka and Northern Siberia are narrated by Homer B. Hulbert, editor of the Korean Review, who gained his material direct from the mining expert himself.

THE Syndics of the Cambridge University Press recommend in the "Cambridge University Reporter" the purchase of the leasehold property in Fetter Lane known as "St. Dunstan's House." The warehouse in Ave Maria Lane is no longer sufficiently commodious for the London publishing business of the Press, the Syndics of which feel that by the purchase of St. Dunstan's House all their wants will be met. This will remove from the historic landmark the old firm of Sampson Low, Marston & Co., which is liquidating its business.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. publish to-day, (January 28,) "Mysterious Mr. Sabin," by E. Phillips Oppenheim, author of "Anna the Adventuress," etc.; also a new edition of "The Colombian and Venezuelan Republics," by William L. Scruggs, containing an additional chapter on the Panama Canal, together with the full text of the Panama treaty. They will publish in the spring a book entitled "The Freedom of Life," by Annie Vayson Call, author of "Power Through Repose," in which she continues to preach the gospel of relaxation.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY report that, in response to the repeated interest in Russian life and Russian institutions, particularly the relation of the Czar to his people, there has been an immediate demand for Mrs. Voinich's new novel, "Olive Latham," which is concerned so largely with nihilism and nihilistic thought. As a reflection of this increased interest in Russia and her troubles a fresh demand has also sprung up for Dr. James A. B. Scherer's description of Japanese life and institutions, published a short time ago by J. B. Lippincott Company under the title "Japan To-day."

H. A. LUDWIG DEGENER, for some time manager of the Oxford Branch of Williams & Norgate, of London, has established himself in the publishing business at 16 Hospitalstr., Leipzig. The nucleus of his business is the stock of the important technological works, almanacs etc., of the firm of Gerhard Kuthmann, of Dresden, and the famous school books of R. Zuck, in all upwards of 120 titles. He has made arrangements to publish the German edition of Hall Caine's "Prodigal Son," and is open for offers to bring out German translations of other English and American works.

At this season of the year, when churches everywhere are engaged in evangelical efforts, an appropriate little volume is just appearing through Revells from Dr. Len G. Broughton, "The Soul-Winning Church." Dr. Broughton holds a large auditorium full from week to week in Atlanta, Georgia. These addresses he delivered last fall in G. Campbell Morgan's church in London. The author has not hesitated to lay his hand on the sore spots and strong points in organized religion. He puts in plain language the bold truth about the mission, the doctrine, the workers, the power and hope of the church of to-day.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have postponed the publication of H. Marriott Watson's novel, "Hurricane Island," until February 16. They have set March 2 as the date of publication of John S. Wise's novel, "The Lion's Skin." They will bring out in the spring the long-promised "Into Lhasa," by Percival Landon, which will contain an introduction by Colonel Younghusband, who headed the British expedition to the Forbidden Land. Mr. Landon is writing for World's Work an account of the mission to be entitled "Into Tibet with Younghusband." The article, as well as the book, will be fully illustrated from photographs. Mr. Landon was the London Times's and the New York Times's representative in Tibet.

On the evening of January 24 Colonel Daniel Appleton, of D. Appleton & Co., who has been commanding officer of the Seventh Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., for fifteen years, was honored with a reception and was presented with a huge album, black and white, the colors of the regiment, in which were inscribed the names of every officer, commissioned and non-commissioned, and every private in the regiment. Earlier in the evening the life-size portrait of Colonel Appleton, seated on a blue-ribbon winner of the Horse Show, presented to him by Richard Halsted, was unveiled in the veterans' room. This, with the pictures of other colonels of the regiment, finally is to be placed in the officers' room.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just ready a book on the Russian Doukhobors, by Aylmer Maude, entitled "A Peculiar People." Few sects have ever had so many strange and curious beliefs and customs as these people. Their real character and motives are explained for the first time to English readers in this book. Mr. Maude, who made the arrangements with the Canadian Government which led to the migration of the Doukhobors to Canada, and who has been closely connected with them since that time, is able to throw much light on what has hitherto appeared unaccountable. The book contains the full story of the people and their migration to Canada, together with a long letter from Count Leo Tolstoy, explaining his relations with this remarkable sect.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will publish shortly a work entitled "The Lure of the Labrador Wild," by Dillon Wallace, the companion of Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., who died of starvation a little over a year ago on an exploring expedition in the interior of Labrador. Not the least interesting part of the story is the manifest devotion of the two sufferers to each other in the hour of their indescribable suffering. Mr. Wallace also has something to offer to the critics who have had not a little to say about the foolhardiness of the expedition and the apparent unpreparedness for contingencies that should have been foreseen. Those who have seen the manuscript say that it is a story of tragic destiny, lured on by false hopes and erroneous information from unsuspected danger to danger, until the end. They are bringing out for Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus, president of the Armour Institute in Chicago, a volume of his addresses under the title of "Paths to Power."

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just received the completed manuscript of "Brothers of Peril," by Theodore Roberts, who will be remembered as the creator of that charming cosmopolitan "Hemming the Adventurer." The new story shows a decided improvement over "Hemming," which was a first book, and shows that Theodore Roberts has in no small measure the literary instinct and creative ability possessed by the other well-known members of his family, Professor Charles G. D. Roberts and Bliss Carman. Messrs. Page are preparing for publication early in the spring attractive additions to their series of successful copyright novels issued at popular prices. In the list, which numbers eighteen volumes, may be noted such strong titles by well-known authors as "The Mystery of Murray Davenport," by Robert Neilson Stephens;

"The Spoilsmen," by Elliott Flower; Jokai's "Midst the Wild Carpathians;" D'Annunzio's "The Child of Pleasure," and "A Rose of Acadie," by Marshall Saunders.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just issued "The Life of Florence Nightingale," by Miss Sarah A. Tooley, who, in preparing this work, has had the assistance of many of Miss Nightingale's closest associates during her active years, and who is said to have produced a singularly interesting volume that reflects Miss Nightingale's character and personality in the happiest way. They will bring out in February, in separate volumes, three plays by Henry Arthur Jones—"Mrs. Dane's Defence," which has been one of the most successful of Mr. Jones's plays on the American stage, running two whole winters in New York; "The Case of Rebellious Susan," now being played here; and "The Manœuvres of Jane," one of the brightest and most sparkling comedies of recent years. They will publish in the spring "A Short History of Venice," by W. R. Thayer, the author of "The Dawn of Italian Independence;" the first of the eight-volume "History of the United States," by Professor Edward Channing, to be entitled "The Planting of a Nation in the New World," which will bring the narrative down to 1660; and the following volumes in the American Sportsman's Library: "The American Thoroughbred," by Charles E. Trevathen; "Rowing and Track Athletics," by S. Crowther, Jr., and Arthur Ruhl; and "Riding and Driving," by Edward L. Anderson and Price Collier, of which all are to be fully illustrated from photographs.

AMONG the newer works on medicine, pharmacy, dentistry, chemistry and the allied sciences recorded in this issue, some excellent titles appear over the imprint of P. Blakiston's Son & Co., of Philadelphia. A work of especial interest to the laity as well as medical men is Barr's "Mental Defectives." "What to Do First in Accidents and Emergencies," by Dulles, is well known outside professional circles. Gould, it is noted, has brought out a supplement, containing 38,000 words and terms, to his famous "Illustrated Dictionary of Medicine, Biology, and the Allied Sciences." Gulick's "Physical Education by Muscular Exercise" will appeal to physical culturists. Three excellent works on physiology, by Brubaker, Landois and Halliburton, respectively, are listed. Hyatt-Woolf's "Optical Dictionary;" Wilcox's "Manual of Fever Nursing;" Newman's "Bacteriology and the Public Health;" Schofield's "Unconscious Therapeutics;" Da Costa's "Clinical Hematology," (blood examination;) Scoville's "Art of Compounding Drugs;" St. Clair's "Medical Latin;" Sutton's "Volumetric Analysis;" Thresh's "Examination of Waters and Water Supplies;" Greene's "Medical Examination for Life Insurance;" Leffmann and LaWall's "Organic Chemistry, with Experiments," and Whetham's "Recent Development of Physical Science." These and many others of equal importance make the 1904 record of this publishing house one of unusual interest.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

CASTLE CRANEYCROW " 1.50

BREWSTER'S MILLIONS " 1.50

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

WE take pleasure in announcing that we have bought all the publication rights, the stock and plates of the above named books from the original publishers, Messrs. HERBERT S. STONE & COMPANY.

GRAUSTARK and CASTLE CRANEYCROW made their author famous, but Mr. McCUTCHEON, wishing to test his literary reputation, gave the world his BREWSTER'S MILLIONS under the nom de plume of Richard P. Greaves.

THE novel, just published under a name wholly unknown, and practically without advertising, reached the unusual sale of 40,000 copies.

ALL future orders for the above three books and all other books of GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON should now be sent to the undersigned,

FOX, DUFFIELD & COMPANY'S

Spring Books

Letters of Henrik Ibsen

Translated by JOHN N. LAURVIK. 2 volumes. $2.50 net ; postage extra.

The first collection ever made of the correspondence of the greatest living dramatist. Ibsen's powerful genius has attracted so many readers and admirers, who have nevertheless been puzzled as to his personality, that the publication of an installment of these letters in Fox, Duffield & Co.'s International Quarterly at once aroused wide discussion and interest. The appearance of the entire collection in book form will undoubtedly be the most important feature of the Spring Season.

Japanese Life and Character

By OKAKURA KAKUZO. $1.50 net ; postage extra.

An account, given by one of the most talented of living Japanese, of the qualities that make the Japanese character unique. How the Japanese do things, a theme which has for a long time interested students of their art and civilization, is now more than ever important, and Mr. Okakura's discussion of his countrymen is timely and valuable in the highest degree.

Old Masters and New

By KENYON COX. $1.50 net ; postage extra.

Mr. Cox's rank as an art critic is incontestable, and has long been known to students and connoisseurs. In this volume he collects for the first time some of his most striking opinions on art and artists, new and old. Special attention is given to celebrated American masters, such as St. Gaudens, John La Farge, and others.

Hester of the Grants

A Romance of Old Bennington. By THEODORA PECK. Illustrated. $1.50.

A sweet and wholesome story dealing with people and places of the Green Mountain State in Revolutionary times. An unusual plot, a pleasant and agreeable style, and a thorough familiarity with conditions in early Vermont, then a portion of the Hampshire Grants, make Miss Peck's work remarkable for a first novel.

Virginia County Records

Volume I. Spotsylvania County. $7.50 net. By Arrangement with The Genealogical Association.

A transcription and reprint of invaluable American documents, containing abstracts of wills, deeds, marriage licenses, guardians' bonds, lists of revolutionary soldiers, etc., etc., with an exhaustive index.

HARPER'S FEBRUARY PUBLICATIONS

THE SLANDERERS

By WARWICK DEEPING

THE "star-crossed lovers" whose romance fills these pages are drawn into the toils of a sordid, gossiping community where the tongue of slander does its worst, bringing about an engrossing situation in an unusually strong plot. The tale takes a poetic turn among English fields and hedgerows, and readers who have delighted in Mr. Deeping's former books will here find the same charm of style and story that marked those romances of mediæval days.

Cloth, Post 8vo, $1.50

SHORT STORIES BY POPULAR AUTHORS

The Bell in the Fog

By GERTRUDE ATHERTON

MRS. ATHERTON has published no volume which so powerfully portrays the rare quality of her style and the breadth of her genius as does this. It is not possible to suggest the charm of these tales by mere description. They embody a variety of themes, and are all splendid stories.

Cloth, Post 8vo, $1.25

The Second Wooing of Salina Sue

By RUTH McENERY STUART

FOR years Mrs. Stuart has taken front rank as a delineator of character and, being a Southern woman, has laid the scenes of most of her charming stories in the South. The present volume is a delightful succession of comedies and tragedies of quaint corners of the Southland.

Illustrated, Post 8vo, $1.50

A NEW STORY FOR BOYS

THE BLOCKADERS

By JAMES BARNES

THIS is the liveliest boy's story that has ever come from the pen of this popular author. It tells of blockade-running during the Civil War, and also of strange adventures on the coast of Africa.

Uniform with New Edition of Harper's Young People Series. 60 cents

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mrs. Humphry Ward's new novel, "The Marriage of William Ashe," will be published about March 2. Every indication is that this is to be the big success in fiction for 1905.

LAIRD & LEE'S GREAT TRIUMPH

WEBSTER'S

New Standard Dictionary

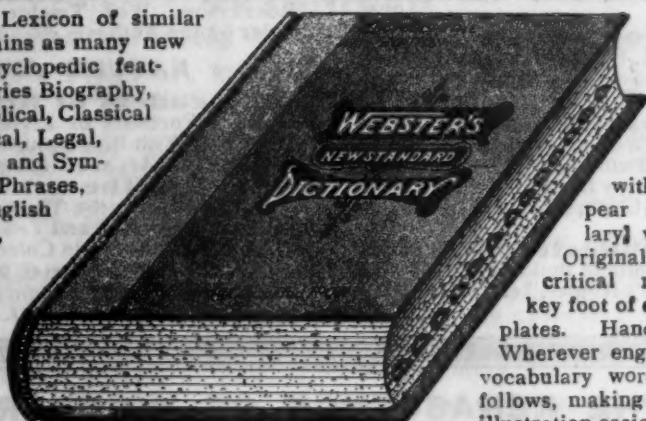

Awarded Gold Medal and Diploma by Superior Jury, Louisiana Purchase Exposition. Also unanimously adopted by Chicago Board of Education for use in Public Schools

THE first time in the history of dictionary making that a lexicon, published West of New York, has received a Gold Medal, by an International Jury, at any World's Fair. It is a significant fact also, that no other dictionary, published West of New York, has ever been adopted for use in the Public Schools. These High Honors have been obtained solely upon the merits of this great work. Never, in the record of bookmaking, has a lexicon been produced that combines the special features of the large dictionaries and at a price that comes at once within the reach of all the people.

Highest Distinction of Merit that the World can Bestow

No modern Lexicon of similar character contains as many new words and encyclopedic features. Dictionaries Biography, Geography, Biblical, Classical Names; Musical, Legal, Medical Terms and Symbols, Foreign Phrases, Synonyms, English Word-Building, Abbreviations, Metric System, Proof-reading.

Size 6x8 inches,
1 1/4 inch thick.
Weight, 2 1/4 lbs.

Large clear print vocabulary words in bold black type. Words which invariably commence with a capital appear in the vocabulary with a capital. Original system of dia critical markings with key foot of each page. New plates. Hand composition. Wherever engraving appears, vocabulary word immediately follows, making definition and illustration easier to understand.

"THE RENASCENCE OF WONDER"

THEODORE WATTS-DUNTON

POET & NOVELIST & CRITIC

A Biographical and Critical Study
By JAMES DOUGLAS

ARTHUR SYMONS writes

in the London Star:

"What I hope Mr. Douglas's book, with all its brilliant advocacy and its solid novelty, will chiefly do, is to bring, if not into popularity at least into general knowledge and acceptance the great critic who has so long been hidden away in an obscurity of his own making, and is now in danger of being obscured by his own reputation as a novelist and as a poet."

NEW YORK GLOBE:

"One of the most delightful volumes of a year that was especially rich in biography."

HALL CAINE writes

in the British Weekly:

"It cannot fail to live among the treasures of literature."

ACADEMY AND LITERATURE:

"Suggestive throughout, well considered and well written."

SIDNEY LOW writes

in the Standard:

"A volume which no serious student of our contemporary literature can afford to neglect."

NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW:

"This enthusiastic biographer strikes the personal note strongly and warmly and his book is very readable."

THREE GOOD STORIES

A CASE OF SARDINES.

By CHARLES P. CLEAVES.
pp. 322. $1.25.

A story of the Maine coast, revealing the inward lives of common as well as uncommon people, their temptations, struggles, aspirations and victories. Not merely a picturesque glimpse of life among the fisheries, but throbbing with human interest. It is also a strong temperance story.

THE TESTING OF SIDNEY DEAN.

By MRS. IDA T. THURSTON.
pp. 450. $1.50.

Tells of the various experiences, both good and bad, of a young fellow in making a start in life. His loyalty, when business prospects look dark, to the man with whom he has taken only a temporary position, his devotion to "gran," to whom he is not related, but who is badly treated by those who are under obligations to care for her, his straightforward manly integrity in all the trials which beset him, and the success which finally crowns his efforts—all make interesting reading which will be helpful to other lads.

SWORD AND PLOW-SHARE.

By WILLIS BOYD ALLEN. pp. 266. $1.25.

This is the 4th in the series of Colonial and Revolutionary stories by the well-known author of "Son of Liberty," "Called to the Front," "Pine Tree Flag," etc., and is as full of interest as those that precede it. After following our old acquaintances through many stirring events of the latter part of the war, we are introduced to peaceful life of those early days.

MORE BEECHER BOOKS

We now publish almost everything of Beecher's

HENRY WARD BEECHER AS HIS FRIENDS SAW HIM.

pp. 135. With portraits and illustrations. 75 cts. net.

Fresh estimates of the great preacher by Lyman Abbot, N. D. Hillis, Pres. F. W. Gunsaulus and others, with incidents and personal reminiscences by Rossiter Raymond, Edward Bok, Prof. George P. Fisher, Rev. R. DeWitt Mallary and others, and appreciations by A. H. Bradford, D.D., Geo. W. Cable, Gen. O. O. Howard, Julia Ward Howe, George W. Curtis, O. W. Holmes and others, accompanied by illustrations and rare portraits.

METAPHORS AND SIMILES FROM THE SERMONS AND ADDRESSES OF HENRY WARD BEECHER.

With portrait, 50 cts., net

A collection of apt illustrations with comparisons and illuminating metaphors and similes which are both readable and quotable.

PRAYERS FROM PLYMOUTH PULPIT.

By HENRY WARD BEECHER. pp. 332. $1.00, net.

Mr. Beecher's public prayers were often as memorable as his sermons, and we are glad to add this most valuable collection to our list of Beecher's writings and to offer it at a reduced price. Formerly $1.50.

LYMAN BEECHER.

By EDWARD HAYWARD. pp. 114. 75 cts., net.

A brief biography of the father of Henry Ward Beecher; a man of remarkable forcefulness of character and of great influence in shaping the theological thought of his time.

Books for Thoughtful People

THE CHURCHES AND EDUCATED MEN.

By EDWIN N. HARDY. pp. 300. $1.25, net.

A strong argument in favor of a college education, not only for mental but for spiritual development. The author takes up the history of the colleges by periods, and, by quoting from the best authorities, proves the gradual improvement in the percentage of professing Christians, until to-day the spiritual condition is far in advance of that of earlier times.

MONDAY CLUB SERMONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS FOR 1905.

pp. 400. $1.25.

This well known annual volume has a very strong list of contributors this year. It treats the lesson from a somewhat different standpoint from that of the ordinary lesson commentary, and will be found specially helpful to teachers of advanced classes.

Two Good Text Books for Advanced Classes

THE BOOKS OF THE BIBLE. WITH RELATION TO THEIR PLACE IN HISTORY.

By M. C. HAZARD, Ph.D., and Prof. H. T. FOWLER. pp. 226. Board covers. 50 cts., net. 40 cts. in quantities.

A textbook for advanced classes, teachers, etc., containing 52 lessons on the authorship, history and structure of the Bible from the standpoint of modern scholarship. Used as a textbook in one of the correspondence classes of the American Institutes of Sacred Literature, Chicago.

THE PROPHETS AS STATESMEN AND PREACHERS.

By Prof. H. T. FOWLER. 30 cts., net. 25 cts. in quantities.

A new textbook designed to follow "Books of the Bible." It gives to the student a vivid conception of the poetical and social as well as religious conditions under which the Old Testament prophets uttered their messages. It provides the material for an exceedingly interesting and profitable course of study covering one year.

- SODDY, F. Radio-Activity. An elementary treatise from the standpoint of the disintegration theory. 8vo, cloth, illustrated.....net, $3.00
- STODOLA, DR. A. Steam Turbines. With an appendix on Gas Turbines, and the future of Heat Engines. Authorized translation by Dr. Louis C. Loewenstein, (Lehigh University). With 241 cuts and 3 lithographed tables. 8vo, cloth, illustrated.....net $4.50
- TOWNSEND, F. Short Course in Alternating Current Testing. With diagrams of Experiments and Tests. 8vo. Pamphlet. Illustrated. 32 pages.....75 cents
- UNDERHILL, CHAS. R. The Electro-Magnet. (New and revised edition.) 8vo, cloth, 159 pages, illustrated.....net, $1.50

Announcement of Forthcoming Books.

- ASHE, S. W., and J. D. KEILEY. Electric Railways Theoretically and Practically Treated.
- BAKER, A. L. Quaternions.
- BAUER'S MARINE ENGINES AND BOILERS.
- BERTIN, L. E. Marine Boilers. Their Construction and Working, dealing more especially with Tubulous Boilers. Translated by Leslie S. Robertson. Assoc. M. Inst., C.E., M.I.Me.ch.E., M.I.N.A., containing upward of 250 illustrations. Preface by Sir William White, K.C.B., F.R.S., Director of Naval Construction to the Admiralty, and Assistant Controller of the Navy. New and revised edition. 8vo, cloth, illustrated.....In Press
- BIRCHMORE, DR. W. H. How to Use a Gas Analysis. 12mo, cloth, illustrated.
- CAIN, PROF. WM. Brief Course in the Calculus.
- CATHCART, PROF. WM. W., and J. I. CHAFFEE. Course of Graphic Statics Applied to Mechanical Engineering.
- CATHCART, PROF. WM. L., Columbia University. Machine Elements; Shrinkage and Pressure Joints. With Tables and Diagrams.
- Marine Engine Design.*
- CHRISTIE, W. W. Boiler Waters, Scale, Corrosion.
- COREY, H. T. Water Supply Engineering.
- FAY, I. W. Coal-Tar Colors; Their Origin and Chemistry.
- FRASER, R. H., and C. H. CLARK. Marine Engineering.
- HILL, J. W. Interpretation of Water Analysis.
- HIROI, PROF. I. Statically Indeterminate Stresses.
- KOENIG, H. L. and G. W. RICE. Current Practice in Gas Engine Design. 16mo, Cloth, illustrated.....50 cents.
- LAMBORN, L. L. American Soaps, Candles, and Glycerin. A practical manual of modern methods of utilization of Fats and Oils in the manufacture of Soaps and Candles, and the recovery of Glycerin. 8vo, cloth, illustrated.
- LUCKE, PROF. C. E. Gas Engine Design. 8vo., cloth, illustrated, 300 pp.
- PRELINI, CHAS. Earth and Rock Excavation.
- SCHMALL, C. N. First Course in Analytical Geometry, Plane and Solid. With numerous examples.
- SCHMEER, L. Flow of Water.
- SEWALL, C. H. Lessons in Telegraphy.
- THOMAS, C. W. Paper Makers' Handbook. A Practical Treatise. Illustrated.
- THURSO, J. W. Modern Turbine Practice, and Water Power Plants.
- VAN NOSTRAND'S YEAR BOOK OF ENGINEERING DATA. With many tables and diagrams. (First Year of Issue, 1904.)
- WALLING, B. T. (Lieut.-Com. U. S. N.), and JULIUS MARTIN. Electrical Installation of the United States Navy. With many diagrams.
- WEISBACH, DR. J., and PROF. G. HERRMANN. Mechanics of Air Machinery. Translated with an appendix on American Practice by Prof. Amasa Trowbridge. 8vo, cloth, illustrated.

NEW YORK

LIST OF BOOKS PUBLISHED DURING 1904 BY JOHN WILEY & SONS

43-45 East Nineteenth Street, New York

London: CHAPMAN & HALL, Limited, 11 Henrietta Street, Covent Garden

NEW BOOKS

Food Inspection and Analysis

By ALBERT E. LEACH, S.B. Large 8vo, xiv+787 pages, 120 figures, 40 full-page half-tone plates. Cloth, $7.50.

The Industrial and Artistic Technology of Paint and Varnish

By ALVAH HORTON SABIN, M.S., 8vo, vi+372 pages, illustrated. Cloth, $3.00.

Elements of Mechanical Drawing

The Suppression of Tuberculosis

By Professor E. VON BEHRING. Translated from the German by CHARLES BOLDUAN, M.D. 12mo, vi+85 pages. Cloth, $1.00.

Manual of the Chemical Analysis of Rocks

By HENRY S. WASHINGTON, Ph.D. 8vo, viii+183 pages. Cloth, $2.00.

The Textile Fibres

Their Physical, Microscopical, and Chemical Properties. By J. MERRITT MATTHEWS, Ph.D. 8vo, vi+288 pages, 69 figures. Cloth, $3.50.

Untechnical Addresses on Technical Subjects

By JAMES DOUGLAS, LL.D. 12mo, v+84 pages. Cloth, $1.00.

Alternating Currents: their Generation, Distribution, and Utilization

By GEORGE T. HANCHETT, M.E. 12mo, 180 pages, profusely illustrated with line and half-tone cuts. Cloth, $1.00 net.

A Laboratory Manual of Physiological and Pathological Chemistry

For students in Medicine. By Dr. E. SALKOWSKI. Translated by W. R. ORNDORFF, A. B., Ph.D. With ten Figures and a Colored Plate of Absorption Spectra. 8vo, vii+263 pages. Cloth, $2.50.

The Non-metallic Minerals: their Occurrence and Uses

By GEORGE P. MERRILL, George Washington University. 8vo, xi+414 pages, 32 full-page plates, mostly half-tones, and 28 figures in the text. Cloth, $4.00.

A Method for the Identification of Pure Organic Compounds by a Systematic Analytical Procedure Based on Physical Properties and Chemical Reactions

Vol. 1, now ready. By SAMUEL P. MULLIKEN, Ph.D. Large 8vo, xii+264 pages. Cloth, $5.00.

Immune Sera: Hæmolysins, Cytotoxins, and Precipitins

By Prof. A. WASSERMANN, M.D. Authorized translation by CHARLES BOLDUAN, M.D. 12mo, ix+76 pages. Cloth, $1.00.

Naval Architecture

By CECIL H. PEABODY. 8vo, v+616 pages, 217 figures. Cloth, $7.50.

Elements of Water Bacteriology, with Special Reference to Sanitary Water Analysis

By SAMUEL CATE PRESCOTT and CHARLES-EDWARD AMORY WINSLOW. 12mo, vi+162 pages. Cloth, $1.25.

Rustless Coatings; Corrosion and Electrolysis of Iron and Steel

By M. P. WOOD. 8vo, x+432 pages, 85 figures. Cloth, $4.00.

A Compendium of Chemistry, Including General, Inorganic, and Organic Chemistry

By Dr. CARL ARNOLD. Translated by JOHN A. MANDEL. Small 8vo, xii+627 pages. Cloth, $3.50.

Mineral Tables for the Determination of Minerals by Their Physical Properties

By ARTHUR S. EAKLE, Ph.D. 8vo, iii+73 pages. Cloth, $1.25.

The Vegetable Alkaloids

With Particular Reference to their Chemical Constitution. By Dr. AMÉ PICTET. Rendered into English, Revised and Enlarged, with the Author's Sanction, by H. C. BIDDLE, Ph.D. 8vo, vii+505 pages. Cloth, $5.00.

The Theory of the Lead Accumulator (Storage Battery)

By Dr. FRIEDRICH DOLEZALEK. Translated from the German with the Sanction of the Author by CARL L. VON ENDE, Ph.D. (Goettingen). 12mo, xi+241 pages, 30 figures. Cloth, $2.50.

Ready Reference Tables

Volume 1. Conversion Factors of every Unit of Measure in Use, with their Accurate and Approximate Values. By CARL HERING, M.E. 16mo, xviii+19 pages. Morocco, $2.50.

Calculations Used in Cane-sugar Factories

By IRVING H. MORSE, B.S. 16mo, viii+74 pages. Morocco, $1.50.

Logarithmic and Trigonometric Tables to Four and a Half Decimal Places, with Decimal Subdivision of the Degree

Prepared for the Convenient Use of Officers and Enlisted Men of the United States Artillery Corps. By HENRY H. LUDLOW, Major Artillery Corps, U. S. Army. 8vo, vi+47 pages. Cloth, $1.00 net.

Laboratory Exercises in Physical Chemistry

By FREDERICK H. GETMAN, Ph.D. 12mo, viii+241 pages, 100 figures. Cloth, $2.00 net.

JOHN WILEY & SONS' NEW PUBLICATIONS.—Continued.

Quantitative Analysis

Being Vol. II of Analytical Chemistry. By F. P. TREADWELL, Ph.D. Translated with the Author's Permission, from the Second German Edition by WILLIAM T. HALL. 8vo, xii+654 pages, 96 figures. Cloth, $4.00.

Rational Geometry

A Text-book for the Science of Space. Based on Hilbert's Foundations. By GEORGE BRUCE HALSTED. 12mo, viii+285 pages, 247 figures. Cloth, $1.75.

Laboratory Manual of Organic Chemistry for Beginners

By Dr. A. F. HOLLEMAN, Professor Ordinarius in the University of Groningen. An Appendix to the Author's Text-book of Organic Chemistry. Translated from the Dutch by A. JAMIESON WALKER, Ph.D., B.A. With the Co-operation of the Author. 12mo, xiv+78 pages. Cloth, $1.00 net.

The Occurrence of Aluminium in Vegetable Products, Animal Products, Natural Waters, and Miscellaneous Materials

By C. F. LANGWORTHY, Ph.D., and PETER T. AUSTEN, Ph.D. 8vo, v+168 pages. Cloth, $2.00 net.

Elementary Forge Practice

By JOHN LORD BACON. 12mo, v+257 pages, 272 figures. Cloth, $1.50.

Elementary Manual for the Chemical Laboratory

By LOUIS WARNER RIGGS, Ph.D. 8vo, vi+138 pages. Cloth, $1.25.

Techno-Chemical Analysis

By Dr. G. LUNGE, Professor at the "Eidgenössische Polytechnische Schule," at Zurich. Authorized Translation by ALFRED I. COHN. 12mo, vii+136 pages, 16 figures. Cloth, $1.00.

Application of Some General Reactions to Investigations in Organic Chemistry

By Dr. LASSAR-COHN. Authorized Translation by J. BISHOP TINGLE, Ph.D. 12mo, 100 pages. Cloth, $1.00.

Notes on Assaying and Metallurgical Laboratory Experiments

By R. W. LODGE. 8vo, viii+287 pages, illustrated. Cloth, $3.00.

Manual of Serum Diagnosis

By Doctor O. ROSTOWSKI. Authorized Translation by Doctor CHARLES BOLDUAN. 12mo, vi+86 pages. Cloth, $1.00.

Elements of Mechanism

By PETER SCHWAMB, S.B. and ALLYNE L. MERRILL, S.B. 8vo, vi+264 pages, 341 figures. Cloth, $3.00.

Elements of General Drafting for Mechanical Engineers

By C. E. COOLIDGE and H. L. FREEMAN. Oblong 4to, iv+51 pages, 21 folding plates. Cloth, $2.50.

An Elementary Treatise on the Differential Calculus, Founded on the Method of Rates

By Professor W. WOOLSEY JOHNSON. Small 8vo, xiv+406 pages, 70 figures. Cloth, $3.00.

Ordinary Foundations

Including the Cofferdam Process for Piers. With Numerous Practical Examples from Actual Work. By CHARLES EVAN FOWLER, C.E. 8vo, xxvi+314 pages, 148 figures. Cloth, $3.50.

Locks and Builders' Hardware

A Handbook for Architects. By HENRY R. TOWNE, Profusely illustrated with Half-tone Cuts. 16mo, 1117 pages. Morocco, $3.00.

NEW EDITIONS, Revised and EnlargedA Text-book on Roofs and Bridges

Part I. Stresses in Simple Trusses. By MANSFIELD MERRIMAN, Professor of Civil Engineering in Lehigh University, and HENRY S. JACOBY, Professor of Bridge Engineering in Cornell University. Sixth Edition, Rewritten and Enlarged. 8vo, cloth, $2.50.

High-Temperature Measurements

By H. LE CHATELIER and O. BOUDOUARD. Translated by GEORGE K. BURGESS. Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged. 12mo, xiv+341 pages, 79 figures. Cloth, $3.00.

Handbook on Sanitation

A Manual of Theoretical and Practical Sanitation. By GEORGE M. PRICE, M.D. Second Edition, Revised and Partly Rewritten. 12mo, xv+301 pages, 29 figures. Cloth, $1.50 net.

Towers and Tanks for Water-works

The Theory and Practice of their Design and Construction. By J. N. HAZLEHURST. Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged. 8vo, x+325 pages, 61 figures. Cloth, $2.50.

Air, Water, and Food

from a Sanitary Standpoint
By ELLEN H. RICHARDS, with the Assistance of ALPHEUS G. WOODMAN. Second Edition, Revised. 8vo, 262 pages, illustrated. Cloth, $2.00.

Statistical Methods, with Special Reference to Biological Variation

By C. B. DAVENPORT. Second, Revised Edition. 16mo, viii+223 pages. Morocco, $1.50.

Notes on Military Hygiene

for Officers of the Line
By ALFRED A. WOODHULL, A.M., M.D., LL.D. (Princ.), Colonel U. S. Army, retired. Third Edition, Rewritten. 16mo, vii+238 pages. Cloth, $1.50.

Theory and Practice in the Designing of Modern Framed Structures

By J. B. JOHNSON, C.E., C. W. BRYAN, C.E., and F. E. TURNEAURE, C.E. Eighth Edition, Revised and Enlarged. Small 4to, xi+561 pages, profusely illustrated. Cloth, $10.00.

The Architects' and Builders' Pocketbook

By FRANK E. KIDDER, C.E., Ph.D., F.A.I.A. Fourteenth Edition, Rewritten. Twentieth Thousand. 16mo, xix+1656 pages, 1000 figures. Morocco, $5.00.

Elements of Precise Surveying and Geodesy

By MANSFIELD MERRIMAN. 8vo, 261 pages, illustrated. Second Edition. Cloth, $2.50.

Technical Mechanics

A Text-book for Technical Colleges. By EDWARD R. MAURER. Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged. 8vo, xvii+409 pages, upwards of 266 figures. Cloth, $4.00.

A Text-book of Physiological Chemistry

By OLOF HAMMARSTEN. Authorized Translation from the Author's Enlarged and Revised Fifth German Edition by JOHN A. MANDEL, Sc.D. 8vo, viii+703 pages. Cloth, $4.00.

The Mechanical Engineers' Pocketbook

By WILLIAM KENT, A.M., M.E. Seventh Edition. 16mo, xxxii+1129 pages, illustrated. Morocco, $5.00.

Elements of Differential Calculus

By EDGAR W. BASS. Third Edition, Revised. 12mo, viii+356 pages, illustrated. Cloth, $4.00.

Special Announcement to the Trade

The JOHN C. WINSTON COMPANY, Publishers of Philadelphia

Are pleased to announce to the trade that they have acquired and taken over the entire stock, plates, copyrights and good-will of

HENRY T. COATES & COMPANY of Philadelphia

Formerly known as Porter and Coates, who have been for so many years recognized as leading publishers of standard works of all kinds, including:

THE RENOWNED ELLIS BOOKS. Unequalled as stories of pioneer life and very attractive for the young.

THE FAMOUS CASTLEMON BOOKS, which have a perennial interest for boys and girls and are great sellers.

THE ROUNDABOUT LIBRARY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE. Ninety-seven volumes of quick selling and very popular copyright juvenile books by Alger, Castlemon, Ellis, Stephens, Mrs. Lillie and other well known writers.

BESIDES THESE THERE ARE OTHER LINES INCLUDING:

ILLUSTRATED PHOTOGRAVURE BOOKS AND HOUSEHOLD EDITIONS OF STANDARD CLASSICS. These are conceded to be the finest high grade books offered in the trade. New numbers will be found in forthcoming catalogue.

THE LINE OF "INTERNATIONAL" BIBLES has been largely improved and added to for the trade of 1905, and will include many attractive features not offered by any other line. Our representatives will visit the trade prepared to show all our publications, including the complete line of HENRY T. COATES & COMPANY.

Send for our large and complete catalogue.

IF THAT COWARD

who sent me from Omaha, on January 18, 1905, an ANONYMOUS POSTAL CARD referring to my advertisements of Webster's Imperial Dictionary in the Publishers' Weekly will favor me with his name and address, it will give me great pleasure to endeavor to find some means of having forced through his cloak of limited understanding a few plain truths—not for my benefit, but for his—a good deal the same as when Mr. Flaherty asked Mr. Mulcahy how his wife was, and followed up the question with the remark—"not that he cared a —, but merely for the sake of his conversation."

Other anonymous communications threatening a dire fate for me, telling me, in short, that I might consider myself lucky if I was not shot or stabbed if I persisted in carrying out my business plans in regard to Webster's Imperial Dictionary have been received; but they went into the waste basket, and I proceeded to do as I had outlined and announced, namely—publish the book—sell it at a reasonably decent price—and not run a get-rich-quick scheme.

Publishers receive many very curious letters—some people might think the sort described above somewhat serious—I don't—I pity the cowards who send them—but here is one received to-day that we can all agree is FUNNY.

Do you know that you can make as much money selling Webster's Imperial on an investment of one half the cost of an International as you can on an International? The Imperial is the new Webster—the International is the 15 year old one.

WEBSTER'S IMPERIAL DICTIONARY IS OF TO-DAY

It is Not of Yesterday, Nor Does it Claim to be of To-morrow

WEBSTER'S IMPERIAL DICTIONARY excels all others in those features which make a dictionary most desirable.

This Dictionary is so new that you need to look in but one place for a word, and that is in its alphabetic order. The entire work being absolutely new has no supplement—because it needs none, for it is complete, unabridged and up-to-date from every possible standpoint.

THE Return of Sherlock Holmes

By A. CONAN DOYLE

BACK to life for a brand new set of adventures, Sherlock Holmes has come and it may safely be said that these thirteen stories surpass anything that has yet been recorded of the great detective. The titles themselves breathe excitement and mystery. They are:

The Mystery of the Empty House; The Adventure of the Norwood Builder; The Mystery of the Dancing Men; The Mystery of the Solitary Cyclist; The Adventure of the Priory School; The Mystery of Black Peter; The Mystery of Charles Augustus Milverton; The Adventure of the Six Napoleons; The Mystery of the Three Students; The Adventure of the Gold Pince-Nez; The Mystery of the Missing Three-Quarter; The Mystery of the Abbey Grange; The Adventure of the Second Stain.

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES, also, the indexes to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, 1903 and 1904.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852.) Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly cumulative indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, except special numbers, 10 cents, postpaid.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, 20s a year; single numbers, 2s. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL, vols. 1-22, 1876-1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4°, in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LAYFOLD, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consulter is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 are also out of print.

—, 1890-95, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

—, 1895-1900, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, containing yearly the monthly lists in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, cumulated, giving in one alphabet, by author, title, and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by the latest volume. It also contains a directory of publishers with full street addresses. The current volume covering 1900 to 1903, inclusive. 8vo, cloth, net, $4.00.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of upwards of 300 American publishers. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without index, net, $2.00; with Supplementary Index, 1903-'04. 2 v., 8°, net, $4.50.

INDEX TO THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues volume of the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $5.00. Supplementary Index for 1903-'04. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $2.50. The two volumes bound in one, $6.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book, Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the cooperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8°, cloth, $2.50.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.] 8vo, cloth, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1900-1903, bound in one volume, cloth, $5.00.

PUBLICATIONS OF SOCIETIES: a provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 4°, paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.00.

STATE PUBLICATIONS: a provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Pt. 1: New England States—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. Pt. 2: North Central States—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. 4°. (For complete work, $5.00.)

THE PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING: a handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Book-trade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," etc. Pts. 1 and 2. 8°, bds., each, $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The Friend of the South

What newspapers say of the masterful figure represented in "The Clansman":

LOUISVILLE
TIMES:

"It is the first Southern novel to reveal Abraham Lincoln as the true friend of the South, and the characterization of the great President is a noble and inspiring one."

NASHVILLE
AMERICAN:

"A wonderful picture of Abraham Lincoln . . . shown as the great constructive statesman."

LOUISVILLE
COURIER-JOURNAL:

"The President is living, real and nobly dignified throughout, and his utterances are tinged with the keen humor so noticeable in all that history has related of the great and good man."

CHARLESTON (S. C.)
NEWS AND COURIER:

"Mr. Lincoln is described as the true friend of the South, and his assassination was the most fearful blow ever received by our people."

SAVANNAH (GA.)
NEWS:

"Probably no more delicate and worthy appreciation of Mr. Lincoln has ever been written. That he was a true friend of the South—of the whole people—is strikingly developed from authenticated facts."

"The Clansman," by Thomas Dixon, Jr.
The big novel of 1905. Illustrated, $1.50.
